CBI Series in Practical Strategy, Multinational Strategic Alliances Robert J. Mockler,1999-07-09 Multinational Strategic Alliances Robert J Mockler St John s University New York Strategic alliances are one of the most significant tools used today in business especially by multinational firms It is seen by business managers as the way to grow their organizations especially when faced by downsizing and cutbacks Such alliances have certainly been around for a long time and surveys show that today the majority of large organizations use them. Almost all multinational firms have considered them. However, what has changed in today's working climate is their breadth and frequency of use and their complexity. This highlights the need for a comprehensive guide such as this. Indeed, research shows that over 70% of strategic alliances fail to deliver the results that were intended from the outset. What makes this book so useful is that it covers a broader range of alliances and has more current case studies than other books currently available. In addition, this comprehensive introduction to the subject provides a base of practical how-to material and specific decision models covering determining strategic fit, negotiating strategic alliances, and selecting compatible partners, formulating type and structure of alliances in light of operational fit, and making strategic alliances work. The book also explores other options instead of alliances, such as wholly owned multinational expansion and exporting, and has major sections on understanding and managing cross-cultural diversity, communications, and leadership. Case studies include General Motors in China, British Airways and American Airlines, Airbus Industrie, a cellular phone venture in Tashkent, British Petroleum, Mobil in Europe, and Puyi Briggs and Stratton Engine Corporation in China. The systematic processes, contingency frameworks, best practices, guidelines, and situation analysis checklists given in this book make it an indispensable guide for managers and senior managers, no matter what the size of their enterprise, especially those involved in international marketing planning and management. It is also relevant to consultants and MBA and postgraduate students interested in the development management and other strategic issues involved in multinational strategic alliances.

Human Resources Management in Multinational Companies Marzena Stor, 2022-12-27 Human resource management (HRM) has a significant impact on companies' performance, as evidenced by research conducted in multinational companies (MNCs) based in Central Europe. This book provides a unique perspective of activities conducted in the HRM field in local subsidiaries of such enterprises. It also presents results verifying many hypotheses for each of the six models for single HRM subfunctions and their four relationships with the results of company performance. Particular chapters are devoted to activities including staffing, the organization, shaping employee work engagement and job satisfaction, conducting employee performance appraisal, employee development, managerial staff development, and employer branding. The author used the Partial Least Squares Structural Equation Modeling to verify the research hypotheses. Readers will acquire knowledge about HRM practices in organizations in which the overwhelming ownership capital belongs to MNCs headquartered in Central Europe. The research findings presented confirm the positive impact that HRM activities have on the results of this type of enterprise in such areas as finance, quality, innovation, and HRM itself. The research also sheds light on the new, interesting regularities identified in this regard, e.g., the perception of human factor as a competitive factor. This book will be of interest to academics researchers and advanced or postgraduate students who are interested in the latest research on HRM in MNCs in the region of Central Europe The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license
