Democratic Education and the Teacher-As-Prophet Jeffery Dunn, 2018-06-28 This volume aims to reveal how Dewey's notion of the religious understood as faith in the human relational condition offers a way to think differently about the aims and purposes of education. After exploring the effects of neoliberal conceptions of schooling against broader democratic forms of education, this book suggests that Dewey's vision of the teacher as prophet is a useful model for positioning teachers as agents of social change. By catalysing the religious work of schools understood not as teaching religion but as a process of social unification, the Deweyan teacher as prophet can stimulate experimentation towards a democratic ideal of schooling.

Ethical Leadership for School Administrators and Teachers Joseph P. Hester, 2010-06-28 The mission of educational leadership seems to have shifted from culture growth to standardized testing. This book suggests that the time has come for educational leaders to re-evaluate their mission and redirect their schools to a broader curriculum emphasizing the moral nature of learning. The author also suggests activities that can encourage leaders to change their methods. Leadership requirements, principles, characteristics, skills, climate, and performance standards are set out in six chapters; two appendices provide additional information, and a third lists web resources available through the Internet. A glossary, notes, bibliography, and index complete the work.

Improving Workplace Learning by Teaching Literature Christine Angela Eastman, 2016-04-19 This book investigates the integration of literary writing into work-based or business writing. It proposes ways of how to help people with considerable work experience use literature to engage with the problems they face in their work. Many people like to read for pleasure, but their skills in reading could always be improved. This book makes an original contribution to the fields of education, work-based learning, and business by encouraging students to explore history, memoir, fiction, and non-fiction to model their own writing and widen their knowledge beyond the workplace and their customary reading. Inside are on-site experiments with fiction and non-fiction prose that show how people in the workplace respond and grow from contact with significant literature and culture that relates broadly to their work.
