INTRODUCTION

We will present examples of application of the equations proposed throughout the chapters of the current edition of BR-CORTE (BR-CORTE, 2023). Thus, Tables will be provided with the estimates of the nutritional requirements according to different categories (growing and finishing animals, lactating cows and lactating calves), production systems (feedlot and pasture), genetic groups (Zebu, crossbred beef and crossbred dairy cattle) and sex classes (bulls, steers and heifers).

To facilitate visualization and interpretation of the data, three different worksheets are shown for each example: the first shows the general energy and protein requirements, as well as dry matter (DMI) and water intake; the second the mineral requirements; and the third shows the amino acid requirements for gain.

In Tables 17.1 and 17.2 are presented the summaries with their numbering for each category, as well as the pages where they can be found.
