By Shore and Sedge Bret Harte,2007-12 On October 10 1856 about four hundred people were camped in Tasajara Valley California It could not have been for the prospect since a more barren dreary monotonous and uninviting landscape never stretched before human eye it could not have been for convenience or contiguity as the nearest settlement was thirty miles away it could not have been for health or salubrity as the breath of the ague haunted tules in the outlying Stockton marshes swept through the valley it could not have been for space or comfort for encamped on an unlimited plain men and women were huddled together as closely as in an urban tenement house without the freedom or decency of rural isolation it could not have been for pleasant companionship as dejection mental anxiety tears and lamentation were the dominant expression it was not a hurried flight from present or impending calamity for the camp had been deliberately planned and for a week pioneer wagons had been slowly arriving it was not an irrevocable exodus for some had already returned to their homes that others might take their places It was simply a religious revival of one or two denominational sects known as a camp meeting By Shore & Sedge Bret Harte,2001-04-01 By Shore and Sedge Bret Harte,2009-02-01 After a long night of consoling the widow of another preacher Gideon found himself a place to sleep in the straw of the barn when two strangers came asking for a preacher any preacher at all So Gideon went with them After talking with the dying man and keeping him company until he lapsed back into unconsciousness Gideon wondered what he should do Of course the dying man had spoken his last wish and maybe that wish had little to do with the Good Lord s work Or maybe it had everything to do with the work that he Gideon had to do So he turned then to the one whose name was Mr Hamlin and asked Do you know Kate Somers Can you send for her right away Why ain t this playing it a little too low down said Mr Hamlin She she s got no character But Gideon knew what he was about In By Shore and Sedge and three other stories of the far West Bret Harte 1836 1902 tells of the hopeful souls convinced of the glories to be won in the Gold country and of the hardened ones who must struggle to raise themselves above the desperate and toilsome life of the pioneer By Shore and Sedge Bret Harte,1885 By Shore and Sedge Bret Harte,2021-01-14 Book Excerpt glory he continued with fluent vacuity and wandering dull observant eyes But if I had a little more practice in class Brother Silas more education The letter killeth interrupted Brother Silas Here his wandering eyes took dull cognizance of two female faces peering through the opening of the tent No yer mishun Brother Gideon is to seek Him in the by ways in the wilderness where the foxes hev holes and the ravens hev their young but not in the Temples of the people Wot sez Sister Parsons One of the female faces detached itself from the tent flaps which it nearly resembled in color and brought forward an angular figure clothed in faded fustian that had taken the various shades and odors of household service Brother Silas speaks well said Sister Parsons with stridulous fluency It s fore ordained Fore ordinashun is better nor ordinashun saith the Lord He shall go forth turnin neither to the right hand nor the left hand and seek Him among the lost By Shore and Sedge Bret Harte,2025-08-22 Reproduction of the original
