In Depth How To Get Brand Deals For Busy Professionals:

Confessions of a Real Estate Professional: Top 10 Mistakes to Avoid When Starting Your Career Jeff Petsche, 2016-06-22

This book is a must read for any newly licensed agent or anybody looking to start a career in real estate. Knowing what mistakes are most common among newly licensed agents can save you headache, frustration, money, and most importantly YOUR CAREER. If you don't know what to look for when starting out, many of the mistakes outlined in this book could cause a new agent's career to END before it ever BEGINS. Mindset, Being Financially Prepared, and Picking the Right Brokerage are just a few of the mistakes addressed in this book, and knowing how to address each one can make the difference between having early success or lots of frustration.

7 Steps to Effective Brand Management Sarah Fieldhampton, In today's hyperconnected marketplace, your brand is far more than a logo or a catchy slogan. It represents the sum total of every interaction, impression, and experience that customers have with your business. Brand management has evolved from a simple marketing function into a strategic imperative that touches every aspect of an organization, from product development to customer service, from internal culture to external communications. The concept of brand management emerged in the mid-20th century when companies like Procter & Gamble began assigning dedicated managers to oversee individual product brands. This revolutionary approach recognized that each brand required focused attention, strategic thinking, and consistent execution across all touchpoints. Today, this principle has expanded beyond product brands to encompass corporate brands, personal brands, and even geographic brands representing cities, regions, and nations. At its core, brand management is the art and science of creating, maintaining, and evolving a brand's identity, positioning, and reputation in the marketplace. It involves understanding not just what you want your brand to represent, but how it is actually perceived by your target audiences. This perception gap is where many brands struggle, as there can be significant differences between intended brand identity and actual brand image. The foundation of effective brand management rests on several key pillars. First is brand identity, which encompasses the visual elements like logos, colors, and typography, as well as the verbal elements such as tone of voice, messaging, and brand personality. This identity serves as the consistent thread that connects all brand expressions and helps audiences recognize and remember your brand across different contexts and channels.

Implementing a Virtual Coaching Model for Teacher Professional Development Myers, Suzanne, Rowland, Amber, Elford, Martha D., 2022-01-14. Over the last two decades, the use of instructional coaching has surged in PreK-12 education settings as one way to support the implementation of instructional best practices in a wide range of disciplines. However, not all educators have access to high-quality instructional coaching due to multiple factors, which typically include isolation, geographic and otherwise limited financial support, and limited professional development time. In addition, the COVID-19 pandemic brought long periods of quarantine and social isolation, where educators were scrambling to teach in an unfamiliar medium, and virtual coaching was the only way they could receive professional development. For these reasons, many districts are exploring virtual solutions to provide professional development and coaching support Implementing a Virtual Coaching Model for Teacher Professional Development addresses how to effectively implement virtual coaching in the field of education and discusses how technology can provide more equitable access to job embedded and personalized professional learning through virtual coaching across all educational institutions Covering a wide range of topics such as sustainable learning and cognitive coaching it is ideal for professional development professionals corporate trainers education leaders principals teachers researchers practitioners academicians and students
