It discusses the crucial role of business entrepreneurship in each stage of Korea's transformation from an underdeveloped East Asian backwater to a global manufacturing and technology powerhouse throughout the last 100 years. Furthermore, it provides an up-to-date analysis of contemporary start-up entrepreneurship in Korea and discusses its unique characteristics, strengths, and weaknesses. Authors identify specific features of entrepreneurship in Korea, why and how business entrepreneurs have been so successful and effective, how their entrepreneurial styles and activities have changed over time, which challenges Korean start-up entrepreneurs are currently facing, and how these challenges may be addressed.

Working the System Jon Schubert, 2017-11-15 Working the System offers key insights into the politics of the everyday in twenty-first century dominant party and neo-authoritarian regimes in Africa and elsewhere. Detailing the many ways ordinary Angolans fashion their relationships with the system, an emic notion of their current political and socioeconomic environment, Jon Schubert explores what it means and how it feels to be part of the contemporary Angolan polity. Schubert finds that for many ordinary Angolans, the benefits of the post-conflict New Angola, flush with oil wealth and in the midst of a construction boom, are few. The majority of the inhabitants of the capital, Luanda, struggle to make ends meet and live on under 2.00 per day. The New Angola, as promoted by the ruling

MPLA Schubert contends is an essentially urban upwardly mobile and aspirational project premised on the acceptance of the regime's political and economic dominance by its citizens. In the first ethnography of Angola to be published since the end of that country's twenty-seven years of intermittent violent internal conflict in 2002, Schubert traces how Angolans may question and resist the system within an atmosphere of apparent compliance. Working the System will appeal to anthropologists and political scientists, urban sociologists and scholars of African studies.

Association Men, 1922 Black Children and Underachievement in Schools Dr. Frances Benskin, 2014-06-20 In the United Kingdom, the reason why so many Black children fail in the educational system is a cause of much debate. Previous research has pointed to a number of causes such as their home environments, poor family background, deficiency in language, teacher expectation, and Black workers' position in the job market. The current work by Frances Benskin, on the other hand, seeks to investigate whether or not racism plays a part in the underachievement of Black children in schools. Specifically, the study seeks to address whether Black children have the same opportunity to good learning experiences and resources as their white counterparts and does the school portray a good ambience in accommodating all children or do they feel isolated by a system that does not cater for their needs. Through this book, Frances hopes that readers can get a better understanding of the effects of racism and how it can affect people's lives if it is not dealt with effectively in Britain or elsewhere. The research shows that racism, stereotyping cultural differences, assumed dialect or language differences played a part in undetermining the capability of Black children.

About the Novel: The Wednesday Wars follows Holling Hoodhood as he enters the seventh grade. Every Wednesday, the students in his class go to separate churches for religious classes. However, as a Presbyterian, Holling doesn't have anywhere to go. So instead, he stays behind with his teacher, Mrs. Baker. She doesn't seem pleased about this, and quickly, Holling believes that she has it in for him. Each week, Mrs. Baker gives Holling menial tasks until finally she begins to force him to read the works of William Shakespeare. This backfires, however, as Holling begins to enjoy the plays so much so that he even gets a role in the community's Holiday Extravaganza. Life at home for Holling isn't any better. He is constantly lost in his father's shadow, who
