through IoT devices are now being used to improve entire value chain operations creating a digital thread through the global value chain. These data are increasingly used to create new services and develop a business model for global firms. As of 2021, four of the top ten global cosmetics firms are from the USA: Estée Lauder, Procter & Gamble, Coty, and Johnson & Johnson; three are from Europe: L'Oréal, Unilever, and Beiersdorf; two from Japan: Shiseido and Kao; and one from Korea: Amore Pacific. The USA and European firms still maintain their competitive advantage in the cosmetics industry. Global cosmetics market share by region shows that North America is the largest at 35%, followed by North America at 26% and Latin America at 7%. Europe accounts for 22% and Africa and other regions for 10%. With the rapid increase of the middle class in the Asia region, more sales are expected there than anywhere else. In this dynamic market environment, a real challenge for the cosmetics industry is how to develop and put into practice its own unique business model.

Consumer Behaviour Jean-Eric Pelet, 2025-03-03. With this textbook, students will learn the concepts, theories, and processes of consumer behaviour and how to apply them in a digitalized and competitive business landscape. Consumer Behaviour combines theoretical underpinnings with real-world practice to provide comprehensive up-to-date coverage of the subject. It explores how consumer behaviour has evolved with the impact of technology, personalization, and sustainability on perception and decision-making. This textbook is ideal for postgraduate students taking modules on Consumer Behaviour as part of their Marketing degrees. Features include: Chapters on the psychological and social dynamics of consumer behaviour and the scientific foundations of learning and memory in brand engagement; Examination of the role of AR, VR, and the metaverse in retail experiences; live streaming and voice commerce as well as quantum computing and the importance of good UX design; Ethical considerations of the digital consumer landscape, including privacy and data concerns; Learning outcomes, key terms, a glossary, and exercise questions; international examples throughout to help develop critical thinking.
