AI for Behavioural Science Stuart Mills, 2022-12-08 This book is a concise introduction to emerging concepts and ideas found at the intersection of contemporary behavioural science and artificial intelligence The book explores how these disciplines interact change and adapt to one another and what the implications of such an interaction are for practice and society AI for Behavioural Science book begins by exploring the field of machine behaviour which advocates using behavioural science to investigate artificial intelligence This perspective is built upon to develop a framework of terminology that treats humans and machines as comparable entities possessing their own motive power From here the notion of artificial intelligence systems becoming choice architects is explored through a series of reconceptualisations The architecting of choices is reconceptualised as a process of selection from a set of choice architectural designs while human behaviour is reconceptualised in terms of probabilistic outcomes The material difference between the so called manual nudging and automatic nudging or hypernudging is then explored The book concludes with a discussion of who is responsible for autonomous choice architects Designing Instruction with Generative AI Brent A. Anders, 2025-09-16 Designing

Instruction with Generative AI offers a novel set of tools and strategies for leveraging generative AI to create engaging and personalized learning experiences While instructional designers are a tremendous asset to higher education not all colleges or universities have the robust staff needed to support all instructors on staff or large student populations Drawing on a wealth of research professional experience and strategic insights this book equips new and seasoned teaching faculty and trainers with step by step directions on how freely accessible artificial intelligence software can assist with all aspects of the course creation and instruction process and cater to the needs of diverse learners Each chapter offers forward thinking and empirically validated ways to help faculty create and improve instructional materials course design and learning environments while supporting their digital literacies Rather than introduce AI as a means of outsourcing subject area expertise critical thinking or cognitive processes the author instead emphasizes its potential to build on traditionally honed knowledge and foundational instructional design practices From optimizing course alignment and accessibility practices to fostering active learning motivation and engagement educators will find new solutions to common teaching and learning challenges with greater efficiency in time and capacity The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license The Technological Revolution in Financial Services Michael R.
