sustainable construction materials are crucial steps toward creating environmentally friendly and low carbon buildings. However, on the one hand, the significant increase in solid construction waste has raised global environmental concerns. On the other hand, the shortage of raw materials in concrete production has triggered concern about whether they can meet the escalating demand. To address these issues, sustainable construction material is a promising direction such as recycled aggregate concrete, geopolymers, concrete, limestone, calcined clay, cement, LC3 concrete, etc. In order to promote the application of sustainable construction materials in practical engineering, it is essential to study the structural behavior and durability of structures made with sustainable construction materials. Structural design methods can be proposed based on AI technology to improve the efficiency in the utilization of sustainable construction materials.

Artificial Intelligence in Education Ben Du Boulay, R. Mizoguchi, 1997. The theme of this book is Knowledge and Media in Learning Systems and papers that explore the emerging roles of intelligent multimedia and distributed technologies as well as computer-supported collaboration within that theme are included. The spread of topics is very wide, encompassing both well-established areas such as student modelling as well as more novel topics such as distributed intelligent tutoring on the World Wide Web. Far from undermining the need to understand how learning and teaching interact, the newer media continue to emphasise the interdependence of these two processes. Collaboration and tools for collaboration are the major topics of interest. Understanding how human learners collaborate, how peer tutoring works, and how the computer can play a useful role as either a more able or even a less able learning partner are all explored here.
