Chardin La Chair Et L'objet:

Chardin, la chair et l'objet René Démoris, 1991 Chardin, la chair et l'objet René Démoris, 1999 Chardin s'est particulièrement illustré en tant que maître de la nature morte et de la scène de genre. Bien que l'artiste représente des genres considérés comme mineurs par l'Académie, il reçoit la reconnaissance de la critique et du public. Loin de livrer la clé du mystère Chardin, cette étude tente d'en dévoiler la symbolique au gré de la présentation de ses toiles les plus célèbres Esthétique et poétique de l'objet au dix-huitième siècle Christophe Martin, 2005 The Pursuit of Laziness Pierre Saint-Amand, 2011-05-09 We think of the Enlightenment as an era dominated by ideas of progress, production and industry, not an era that favored the lax and indolent individual. But was the Enlightenment only about the unceasing improvement of self and society? The Pursuit of Laziness examines moral, political and economic treatises of the period and reveals that crucial eighteenth-century texts did find value in idleness and nonproductivity. Fleshing out Enlightenment thinking in the works of Denis Diderot, Joseph Joubert, Pierre de Marivaux, Jean-Jacques Rousseau and Jean Simón Chardin, this book explores idleness in all its guises and illustrates that laziness existed not as a vice of the wretched but as an exemplar of modernity and a resistance to beliefs about virtue and utility. Whether in the dawdlings of Marivaux's journalist who delayed and procrastinated or in the subjects of Chardin's paintings who delighted in suspended, playful time, Pierre Saint-Amand shows how eighteenth-century works provided a strong argument for laziness. Rousseau abandoned his previous defense of labor to pursue reverie and botanical walks. Diderot emphasized a parasitic strategy of resisting work in order to liberate time, and Joubert's little-known posthumous Notebooks radically opposed the central philosophy of the Enlightenment in a quest to infinitely postpone work. Unsettling the stubborn view of the eighteenth century as an age of frenetic industriousness and labor, The Pursuit of Laziness plumbs the texts and images of the time and uncovers deliberate yearnings for slowness and recreation. Some images inside the book are unavailable due to digital copyright restrictions Enlightened Animals in Eighteenth-Century Art Sarah Cohen, 2021-02-11 How do our senses help us to understand the world? This question, which preoccupied Enlightenment thinkers, also emerged as a key theme in depictions of animals in eighteenth-century art. This book examines the ways in which painters such as Chardin, as well as sculptors, porcelain modelers and other decorative designers portrayed animals as sensing subjects who physically confirmed the value of material experience. The sensual style known today as the Rococo encouraged the proliferation of animals as exemplars of empirical inquiry, ranging from the popular subject of the monkey artist to the alchemical wonders of the life-sized porcelain animals created for the Saxon court. Examining writings on sensory knowledge by La Mettrie, Condillac, Diderot and other philosophers side by side with depictions of the animal in art, Cohen argues that artists promoted the animal as a sensory subject while also validating the material basis of their own professional practice Depiction Michael Podro, Linda Merrill, 1998-01-01 This text is both a philosophical inquiry into the nature of depiction and a critical study of particular artists: Donatello, Rembrandt, Chardin and

Hogarth Michael Podro examines how the materials and procedure of the painter or sculptor are absorbed into imagining the subject This interplay between medium and subject is crucial for the work s expressiveness and to the viewer s involvement Abstract art in the early 20th century Podro argues has a closely related structure The notion of the surface plane is explored by examining Donatello s relief sculpture and the viewer s orientation by reference to Rembrandt He explains that Rembrandt s way of disallowing a dominant plane provides multiple orientations different paths of access to the subject including different ways in which the viewer interacts with depicted figures He then shows how in the case of portrayal the role of sitter artist and viewer interconnect and in the case of the self portrait converge
