generate self reflective and activist practice Queering the Subversive Stitch Joseph McBrinn, 2021-04-08 The history of men's needlework has long been considered a taboo subject This is the first book ever published to document and critically interrogate a range of needlework made by men It reveals that since medieval times men have threaded their own needles stitched and knitted woven lace handmade clothes as well as other kinds of textiles and generally delighted in the pleasures and possibilities offered by all sorts of needlework Only since the dawn of the modern age in the eighteenth and the nineteenth centuries did needlework become closely aligned with new ideologies of the feminine Since then men's needlework has been read not just as feminising but as queer In this groundbreaking study Joseph McBrinn argues that needlework by male artists as well as anonymous tailors sailors soldiers convalescents paupers prisoners hobbyists and a multitude of other men and boys deserves to be looked at again Drawing on a wealth of examples of men's needlework as well as visual representations of the male needleworker in museum collections from artist's papers and archives in forgotten magazines and specialist publications popular novels and children's literature and even in the history of photography film and television he surveys and analyses many of the instances in which needlemen have contested resisted and subverted the constrictive ideals of modern masculinity This audacious original carefully researched and often amusing study demonstrates the significance of needlework by men in understanding their feelings agency identity and history The Rise of the Therapeutic Museum Janet Kraynak, 2025-09-30 This book considers how and why respite rooms emotional support brochures well being guides psychological consultants and care days are becoming common features in the museum of art Kraynak poses and answers this question arguing that under its rightful ambition to decolonize i e to rectify past and present inequalities the museum of the Global North is gradually replacing a commitment to knowledge teaching and learning with a focus upon care healing and well being the therapeutic While this transformation might appear on the surface benign culturally familiar and politically desirable the author counters these presumptions probing the history and implications of the therapeutic museum Here curatorial attention shifts away from the art on view and onto the spectator whom the museum imagines as a precarious psychological subject and primary source of meaning External forces new forms of knowledge encounters with difficulty even an engagement with art are treated as a potential threat As a result the therapeutic museum not only encourages the beholder to turn inward but in so doing deflects attention from or scrutiny of its own practices and systems that perpetuate inequality Among these are the ongoing legacies colonialism's epistemic violence which elevated the knowledge and aesthetic traditions of the Global North while suppressing those of the Global South In contrast the book proposes a pluriversal versus universal museum that maintains the political necessity of knowledge and views pedagogy as a path to emancipation Emphasizing epistemic justice and the moral right to learn during a time when such freedoms are increasingly under attack the book makes a powerful case for questioning rather than romanticizing the therapeutic museum which it ultimately reveals to reinforce rather than challenge dominant power This is an important intervention that is

Excavating the Mind Helle Juel Jensen, Mads D. Jessen, Niels Johannsen, 2012-05-07 Excavating the Mind deals with the relationship between the material culture of humans i.e. our technologies, arts and environments and our mental worlds. Emphasizing the close interdependence of mind and matter, the volume resonates with current developments within sociology, psychology and the cognitive sciences, yet it aims to supplement the focus on modern, predominantly Western societies and individuals with studies of different cultural contexts and processes in the evolutionary and historical past as well as the ethnographic present. With contributions from cognitive and social archaeology as well as anthropology, semiotics and the history of religion, the book combines well-illustrated case studies covering a wide chronological and geographic span from Neolithic Europe to the present-day South Pacific with incisive discussion of particular theoretical issues in the study of mind and material culture. Excavating the Mind is an original contribution to the multidisciplinary debate on the uniquely human entanglement of complex material cultures and mental worlds. New York Magazine, 1996-04-08 New York Magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country. With award-winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion, the magazine's consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea. Surface Giuliana Bruno, 2014-06-09 What is the place of materiality, the expression or condition of physical substance in our visual age of rapidly changing materials and media? How is it fashioned in the arts or manifested in virtual forms? In Surface, cultural critic and theorist Giuliana Bruno deftly explores these questions, seeking to understand materiality in the contemporary world. Arguing that materiality is not a question of the materials themselves but rather the substance of material relations, Bruno investigates the space of those relations, examining how they appear on the surface of different media: on film and video screens, in gallery installations or on the skins of buildings and people. The object of visual studies, she contends, goes well beyond the image and engages the surface as a place of contact between people and art objects. As Bruno threads through these surface encounters, she unveils the fabrics of the visual, the textural qualities of works of art, whether manifested on canvas, wall or screen. Illuminating the modern surface condition, she notes how facades are becoming virtual screens and the art of projection is reinvented on gallery walls. She traverses the light spaces of artists Robert Irwin, James Turrell, Tacita Dean and Anthony McCall, touches on the textured surfaces of Isaac Julien's and Wong Kar-wai's filmic screens and travels across the surface materiality in the architectural practices of Diller Scofidio Renfro and Herzog & de Meuron to the art of Doris Salcedo and Rachel Whiteread, where the surface tension of media becomes concrete. In performing these critical operations on the surface, she articulates it as a site in which different forms of mediation, memory and transformation can take place. Surveying object relations across art, architecture, fashion, design, film and new media, Surface is a magisterial account of contemporary
