Charles Darwin's Notebooks 1836-1844:

Charles Darwin's Notebooks, 1836-1844 Paul H. Barrett, Peter J. Gautrey, Sandra Herbert, David Kohn, Sydney Smith, 1988-01-21 Darwin's notebooks provide an invaluable record of his scientific thinking and most importantly the development of his theory of natural selection. This edition of the notebooks prepared to the highest standard of textual editing thus affords a unified view of Darwin's professional interests. The Red Notebook used on the voyage of H.M.S. Beagle and afterwards in England contains Darwin's first evolutionary statements. In July of 1837 Darwin began his Transmutation Notebooks. B.E. devoted to the solution of the species problem and in the third notebook of this series he first formulated the theory of natural selection. This volume also contains Notebook A and the Glen Roy Notebook on geology. Notebooks M and N on man and behaviour and a notebook labelled Questions and Experiments. Fresh transcriptions have been done for all previously published manuscripts with readings made directly from Notebooks B, C, D and E presenting them with previously excised pages and restored to their original sequence.

The Shape of Fear Susan Jennifer Navarette, 2014-07-11 During the last decades of the nineteenth century Charles Darwin, Thomas Henry Huxley, Walter Pater and others changed the nature of thought concerning the human body and the physical environment that had shaped it. In response, the 1890s saw the publication of a series of remarkable literary works that had their genesis in the intense scientific and aesthetic activity of those preceding decades texts that emphasized themes of degeneration and were themselves stylistically decompositive with language both a surrogate for physical deformity and a source of anxiety Susan J Navarette examines the ways in which scientific and cultural concerns of late nineteenth century England are coded in the horror literature of the period By contextualizing the structural stylistic and thematic systems developed by writers seeking to reenact textually the entropic forces they perceived in the natural world Navarette reconstructs the late Victorian mentalit She analyzes aesthetic responses to trends in contemporary science and explores horror writers use of scientific methodologies to support their perception that a long awaited period of cultural decline had begun In her analysis of the classics Turn of the Screw and Heart of Darkness Navarette shows how James and Conrad made artistic use of earlier scientific readings of the body She also considers works by lesser known authors Walter de la Mare Vernon Lee and Arthur Machen who produced fin de si cle stories that took the form of hybrid literary monstrosities To underscore the fascination with bodily decay and deformation that these writers explored The Shape of Fear is enhanced with prints and line drawings by Victor Hugo James Ensor and other artists of the day This elegantly written book formulates a new canon of late Victorian fiction that will intrigue scholars of literature and cultural history Ways of Seeing, Ways of Speaking Kristie S.

Marx's Ecology John Bellamy Foster,2000-03 By reconstructing a materialist conception of nature and society Marx s Ecology challenges the spiritualism prevalent in the modern Green movement pointing toward a method that offers more lasting sustainable solutions to the ecological crisis Notework Simon Reader,2021-06-22 Notework begins with a striking insight the writer s notebook is a genre in itself Simon Reader pursues this argument in original readings of unpublished writing by prominent Victorians offering an expansive approach to literary formalism for the twenty first century Neither drafts nor diaries the notes of Charles Darwin Oscar Wilde Gerard Manley Hopkins Vernon Lee and George Gissing record ephemeral and nonlinear experiences revealing each author s desire to leave their fragments scattered and unused Presenting notes in terms of genre allows Reader to suggest inventive new accounts of key Victorian texts including The Picture of Dorian Gray On the Origin of Species and Hopkins s devotional lyrics and to reinterpret these works as meditations on the ethics of compiling and using data In this way Notework recasts information collection as a personal and expressive activity that comes into focus against large scale systems of knowledge organization Finding resonance between today s digital culture and its nineteenth century precursors Reader honors our most disposable improvised and fleeting written gestures Facsimile of Memorials of Charles Darwin ,1988 Darwin in Italy Giuliano Pancaldi,1991 History and Philosophy of the Life Sciences ,2007 The Cambridge Review ,1988 Vols 1 26 include a supplement The University pulpit vols 1 26 no 1 661 which has separate pagination but is indexed in the main vol Social Evolution &

History, 2007 The Rhetoric of Science Alan G. Gross, 1996 Alan Gross applies the principles of rhetoric to the interpretation of classical and contemporary scientific texts to show how they persuade both author and audience This invigorating consideration of the ways in which scientists from Copernicus to Darwin to Newton to James Watson establish authority and convince one another and us of the truth they describe may very well lead to a remodeling of our understanding of science and its place in society Encyclopedia of the Victorian Era James Eli Adams, 2004 Contains 627 alphabetically arranged essays that examine significant people places and events in the social political and intellectual history of Great Britain during the sixty four year reign of Queen Victoria from 1837 to 1901 The Darwin Legend James Richard Moore, 1994 ISBN 0801063183 LCCN 9439407 Facets of Faith and Science Jitse M. van der Meer, 1996-09-05 This first volume explores the specific roles of metaphysical and religious beliefs in explanation and theory construction in the natural sciences It surveys modes of interaction between religion and science paying attention to the sensitivities required for their historiography Victorian Values T C Smout, 1992-11-19 In recent years there has been a great deal of discussion about Victorian values This collection the outcome of the first joint symposium between the British Academy and the Royal Society of Edinburgh attempts to sift through the myths to illustrate how the reality of the Victorian age differs from modern perceptions Of particular relevance is Raphael Samuel s important examination of Mrs Thatcher s use of the concept while the following chapters explore the Victorian world itself The papers shed light on a wide variety of Victorian issues from the Scotland of Samuel Smiles to the position of women
