Charmed Lives A Family Romance:

Charmed lives : a family romance Michael Korda, 1976      Charmed Lives ,1996      Charmed Lives Michael Korda, 1981 A Rolls Royce Silver Cloud drove him to airports the British film industry kowtowed to his power the great Hollywood studios fawned at his feet Sir Alexander Korda one of the world's most flamboyant movie tycoons rose from obscurity in rural Hungary to become a legendary filmmaker With him were his brothers Zoltan and Vincent all living charmed lives in circles that included H G Wells Sir Lawrence Olivier Marlene Dietrich Vivien Leigh and Merle Oberon who was soon to be Alex's wife But along with Alex's flair for success was an equally powerful impulse for destruction Now Vincent's son Michael Korda in the first book of his memoirs recalls the enchanted figures of his childhood the glory days of the Korda brothers great films and then their heartbreaking tragic end      Charmed Lives ,1988      Shadow Lovers UK Edition Andrea Lynn, 2019-12-06 Nearing 70 and in what would be the last decade of his life H G Wells fell in love at least three times once with the much younger Baroness Budberg and soon thereafter with two well born Americans Constance Coolidge and Martha Gelhorn 25 and 40 years his junior respectively These would constitute what Wells himself described as his last flounderings towards the wife idea and demonstrate in many ways that Wells was driven less by his considerable intelligence than by his obsession to find his ideal lover what he called his lover shadow This study looks at this very personal side of H G Wells The self-proclaimed Don Juan was said to have radiated energy intellectual emotional physical and sexual Drawing on papers made public by the Wells estate the author documents Wells' relationship with each of these femme fatales and paints a vivid portrait of the early part of the 20th century in London Paris and the US      Exile and Social Thought Lee Congdon, 2014-07-14 Embroiled in the political events surrounding World War I and the failed Hungarian revolutions of 1918-19 a number of intellectuals fled Hungary for Germany and Austria where they essentially created Weimar culture Among them were Georg Lukács whose History and Class Consciousness recast Marxism and challenged even those who repudiated its politics Bela Balázs who pioneered film theory and collaborated with film makers G W Pabst Leni Riefenstahl and Alexander Korda László Moholy-Nagy who codirected the Bauhaus during its heyday in the mid 1920s and Karl Mannheim whose Ideology and Utopia was the most widely discussed work of noncommunist social theory during the Weimar years In this collective portrait combining intellectual history with biographical detail Lee Congdon describes how Hungarian thinkers each in a different way passionately advocated the need for community in a Europe torn by war and revolution Whether communist avant-gardist or Catholic convert each thinker is examined within the vast tapestry of his works his cultural and intellectual milieu and his experience as an exile Despite the ideological differences of these men Congdon reveals how their personal destinies and social goals often merged Since many were assimilated Jews he argues that their thinking on society was inextricably intertwined with their youthful sensitivity to anti-Semitism in Hungary and with the isolating limitations of their lives in Germany and Austria Originally published in 1991 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the Powell and Pressburger Ellen Z. Whitton, 2025-11-10. This book offers a new perspective on the renowned filmmaking duo The Archers Michael Powell and Emeric Pressburger through its examination of their engagement with history and its representation on screen. Usually celebrated for their vibrant aesthetics and bold narratives, Powell and Pressburger have rarely been explored through the lens of realism or historiophoty. This study addresses this gap through the in depth analysis of three of their war films: The Spy in Black 1939, The Life and Death of Colonel Blimp 1943, and The Battle of the River Plate 1956. It demonstrates that the pair were committed to fair historical representations and authenticity and should be considered as early filmmaker historians for their contribution to public understandings of the past. To interrogate this aspect of their partnership, this book introduces a new methodological framework grounded in the structuralist theories of Roland Barthes and Brian McFarlane while influenced by Hayden White and New Cinema History. It balances close textual analysis with investigations into production context and reception history, offering a more holistic approach to understanding how authenticity was constructed on screen and received by audiences. Through these case studies, the book highlights how The Archers employed research practices like archival work, expert consultation, and on location visits that mirror those of traditional historians. In doing so, they crafted historically rich films that shaped public memory, demonstrating filmmaking practices that are now common among contemporary filmmakers in that genre. Beyond reassessing this aspect of The Archers' legacy, this methodology offers a practical framework for analysing and creating historical authenticity on screen.

Another Life Michael Korda, 2011-12-21. In his remarkable memoir, at once frank, audacious, canny, and revealing, Michael Korda, the author of Charmed Lives and Queenie, does for the world of books what Moss Hart did for the theater in Act One and succeeds triumphantly in making publishing seem as exciting and as full of great characters as the stage. Another Life is not just an adventure, the engaging and often hilarious story of a young man making his career, but the insider's story of how a cottage industry metamorphosed into a big business with sometimes alarming results for all concerned. Korda writes with grace, humor, and a shrewd eye, not only about himself and his rise from a lowly but not humble assistant editor reading the slush pile of manuscripts to a famous editor in chief of a major publishing house, but also about the celebrities and writers with whom he worked over four decades. Here are portraits, rare, intimate, always keenly observed, of such larger than life figures as Ronald Reagan, affable and good natured but the most reluctant of authors struggling with his ghosted presidential autobiography, Richard Nixon, seen here as a genial if bizarrely detached host, superagent Irving Lazar pursuing his endless deals, and dreams of class, retired Mafia boss Joseph Bonanno, the last of the old time dons laboring over his own version of his life in his desert retreat Joan Crawford giving Korda her rules for successful living and countless other greats near greats and would be greats Here too are famous writers sometimes eccentric sometimes infuriating sometimes lost souls captured memorably by someone who was close to them for years Graham Greene in pursuit of his FBI file and a Nobel Prize Tennessee Williams wrestling unsuccessfully with his demons Jacqueline Susann facing and conquering the dreaded second novel syndrome after the stunning success of Valley of the Dolls Harold Robbins who had to be guarded under lock and key and made to finish his novels struggling to keep the IRS at bay from the deck of his yacht Carlos Castaneda at his most sorcerously charming described at last in detail as he really was by one of the few people who knew him well not to mention Richard Adams Will and Ariel Durant Susan Howatch S J Perelman Fannie Hurst Larry McMurtry and many many more Parts of this book that have appeared in The New Yorker over the years have brought Korda great acclaim the chapter about Jacqueline Susann has been made into a major motion picture Here at last entertaining and provocative and always hugely readable is the whole story a book as engaging and full of life as Korda's highly acclaimed memoir of his family Charmed Lives about which Irwin Shaw wrote I don't know when I have enjoyed a book more
