Patterns, particularly animal scenes as found in Staffordshire, produced a wide range of scenes, and Willow pattern became so common that it is possible to find shards of blue and white pottery in almost any back garden in the UK. Next time you are gardening, look up your net - perhaps you will find a piece of Willow pattern pottery and will be able to share the story behind it.

Willow Pattern

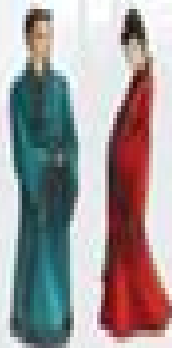

The Fable of the Two Doves

In ancient China, during the reign of the Emperors, there lived a wealthy merchant. He had a beautiful daughter, whose name was Liangzi.

In the merchant's house was an accounting assistant named Chang. He was young and very rich in love.

However, as she was the daughter of a wealthy official and he was only a humble assistant, the pair were forbidden to marry.

The merchant was furious when he discovered that his daughter had fallen in love with a mere clerk. He dismissed Chang and ordered that a high fence should be built around his place to keep the lovers apart.
