Naturalist Fiction David Baguley,1990 This is the first major study of naturalist fiction as a distinct literary genre It focuses mainly on French naturalist literature analysing a number of key works in detail but also draws examples from other national traditions particularly from the English novel Professor Baguley questions and revises many traditional assumptions on important theoretical issues such as the nature of literary history the concepts of realism and naturalism and the relations between science and literature He demonstrates the prevalence of certain recurrent generic patterns themes and techniques in the general body of naturalist literature ranging from disquieting tragic developments to the most outrageous ironic and parodic effects He argues persuasively that far from being a mere record of the external aspects of reality naturalist fiction is a literature of scandalous provocation which employs the strategies of realist art to convey a profoundly disturbing vision of that reality

Joyce and Prose John Porter Houston,1989 Ulysses is discussed in relation to the history of prose and individual chapters are given syntactic and prosodic examination to illumine their distinctive linguistic design revealing Joyce s awareness of linguistic devices derived from other languages and eras

Realism and Naturalism Richard Daniel Lehan,2005 In this intellectual and literary history of American British and Continental novels of realism and naturalism from 1850 to 1950 Richard Lehan argues that literary naturalism is a narrative mode that creates its own reality Employing this strategy allows and encourages intertextuality one novel talking or responding to another

The English Novel, Vol II Richard. W. F. Kroll,2014-07-21 The English Novel Volume II Smollett to Austen collects a series of previously published essays on the early eighteenth century novel in a single volume reflecting the proliferation of theoretical approaches since the 1970s The novel has been the object of some of the most exciting and important critical speculations and the eighteenth century novel has been at the centre of new approaches both to the novel and to the period between 1750 and 1800 Richard Kroll s introduction seeks to frame the contributions by reference to the most significant critical discussions These include the general importance of sentimentalism as a cultural movement after 1750 its relationship to the emergence of the Gothic novel as a specific genre or mode the rapid rise in the number of women novelists in the later eighteenth century the relationship between the novel as mediator of social relations and the idea of the public sphere the relationship between novelistic codes and the massive growth of a consumerist society the class conflicts of writers like Smollett the effect on the novel of the new British nation and the effects of the French Revolution and the subsequent political debates on writers like Wollstonecraft Godwin and Austen This collection will be of interest to students of the later enlightenment and also to all who are interested in late eighteenth century radicalism and the general relationship between literature history and politics
