Charles Lamb As The London Magazine's "Elia" Studies In British Literature:

Charles Lamb as the London Magazine's "Elia" Gerald Cornelius Monsman, 2003 This study examines Charles Lamb's satiric exuberance as an important component of Romantic emotional intensity His essays comment on poetry of such major romantics as Wordsworth Coleridge Keats Shelley and Byron several of whom he knew personally Literary Magazines and British Romanticism Mark Parker, 2001-02-22 In this study Mark Parker proposes that literary magazines should be an object of study in their own right He argues that magazines such as the London Magazine Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine and the New Monthly Magazine offered an innovative and collaborative space for writers and their work indeed magazines became one of the pre eminent literary forms of the 1820s and 1830s Examining the dynamic relationship between literature and culture which evolved within this context Literary Magazines and British Romanticism claims that writing in such a setting enters into a variety of alliances with other contributions and with ongoing institutional concerns that give subtle inflection to its meaning The book provides an extended treatment of Lamb's Elia Essays Hazlitt's Table Talk Essays Noctes Ambrosianae and Carlyle's Sartor Resartus in their original contexts and should be of interest to scholars of cultural and literary studies as well as Romanticists Autobiographical Writing and British Literature 1783-1834 James Treadwell, 2005-01-20 The word autobiography is a late eighteenth century coinage yet by 1826 it was used as the title for a multi volume anthology of self writing and in 1834 Thomas Carlyle wrote of these Autobiographical times of ours Over the course of those few decades readers and writers came to recognize and name a new genre This book is the first full study of the phenomenon examining both the conditions and the practice of autobiographical writing in Romantic literature Historians of autobiography have often pointed to the turn of the nineteenth century as a pivotal moment In Rousseau and De Quincey's Confessions Wordsworth's Prelude and other canonical documents it has been argued self writing begins to serve the purpose of expressing the individuality autonomy and interiority of the self A more wide ranging view of the actual state of autobiography at the time exposes this narrative as a misrepresentation Self writing does gain a new kind of prominence around 1800 not however because it articulates Romantic ideologies of selfhood but because it becomes a focus of scrutiny and of contention The decades of the Romantic period identified themselves as Autobiographical times but did so anxiously This book asks what forms did that recognition and that anxiety take within the literary culture of the period What did autobiography mean to Romantic readers and writers How do autobiographical texts of the period reflect express and negotiate these conditions As well as reading a wide variety of those documents with single chapters devoted to works by Coleridge Byron and Lamb Treadwell examines writing on and around autobiography essays reviews and other forms of commentary By preserving a continuous relation between the texts and their contexts this book offers the first proper study of what is actually meant by Romantic autobiography Encyclopedia of British Humorists Steven H. Gale, 1996 First Published in 1996 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company British Writers: William Wordsworth to Robert Browning British Council,1979 This collection of critical essays covers hundreds of writers who have made significant contributions to British Irish and Commonwealth literature from the 14th century to the present day The contributors analyze many individual works and engage the reader with their distinctive themes and stylistic Introductory essays and chronological tables open each volume and provide historical background Contemporary Perspectives in English Language Studies: Linguistics and Literature (Penerbit USM) Sarjit Kaur,Shakila Abdul Manan,2014-11 Discussing contemporary perspectives and new developments in the field of English language studies has gained ascendancy in view of the fact that such concerns about learning and teaching English make important contributions to society Such discussions are of critical importance in today's globalised societies and more needs to be done towards collaboratively presenting the growing wealth of quality research in linguistics and literature Linguists and scholars continue to champion the need to interrogate the discourse of literary and language texts using a number of critical frameworks that help sensitise readers to the ideological nature of literary discourse and the ways in which certain dominant ideas of nation race ethnicity and gender are ratified or challenged Readers need to be constantly challenged to think interpret and evaluate differing views and perspectives The collection of chapters in this book explores contemporary issues and perspectives in linguistics and literature among educators and researchers whose primary focus is to examine the manner in which English is used for various educational purposes from traditional curriculum demands to answering broader questions about human knowledge global citizenship and social engagement Cassell's library of English literature, selected, ed. and arranged by H.
