Race, Nation, and Reform Ideology in Winnipeg, 1880s-1920s Kurt Korneski, 2015-06-09 During the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries a host of journalists ministers medical doctors businessmen lawyers labor leaders politicians and others called for an assault on poverty slums disreputable boarding houses alcoholism prostitution sweatshop conditions inadequate educational facilities and other social evils Although they represented an array of political positions and advocated a range of strategies to deal with what they deemed problems historians have come to term this impulse urban reform or the urban reform movement This book considers the history of reform ideology in Canada It does so by considering four leading reformers living in what might be described as the most Canadian of Canadian cities Winnipeg Manitoba While the book engages in discussions debates surrounding the particular individuals it considers its more general argument is that to understand the history of reform in Canada requires viewing reformers as simultaneously experiencing and responding to two basic phenomena simultaneously It requires understanding them as confronting the polarizing tendencies exploitation and sometimes grinding poverty that was central to the economic order they often unwittingly helped to impose in northern North America It also however requires seeing them as fundamentally shaped by the process and legacy of the dispossession of Aboriginal peoples and the changing nature of Aboriginal settler relations that were also central to the development of Canada

Charles William Gordon Keith Wilson, 1981 Profiles in Canadian Literature, 1986 Pioneer Woman Elizabeth Thompson, 1991-03-01 Elizabeth Thompson develops the idea of the pioneer woman as an archetypal character firmly entrenched in Canadian fiction and the Canadian consciousness Thompson's broad definition of the concept of pioneer can be seen to reflect the history of Canadian women starting with the pioneers of settlement and continuing through the pioneers of spiritual perfection and psychological liberation Various versions of the pioneer woman have appeared in English Canadian fiction since Traill's development of the character type Sara Jeannette Duncan's The Imperialist and Ralph Connor's The Man From Glengarry and Glengarry School Days feature pioneer women who cope not only with physical frontiers but also with those grounded in social and personal concerns More recently Margaret Laurence used this character type in The Stone Angel A Jest of God and The Diviners with characters who inhabit internal personal frontiers Thompson argues that the longevity of this character type in English Canadian fiction reveals an affinity between the pioneer woman and a common conception of the role of women in Canadian society She suggests that the role for women proposed by the early immigrants was an appropriate choice for the Canadian frontier regardless of the location and nature of that frontier      Canadian Writers and Their Works: Raymond Knister, Dorothy Livesay, E.J. Pratt, W.W.E.
