Chaucers House Of Fame The Poetics Of Skeptical Fideism:

Chaucer's House of Fame Sheila Delany, 1972 On its original publication this classic title made sense of a difficult poem for the first time and brought that poem to the center of a concern with the nature of tradition textuality and language that is current today The book forces late medieval philosophy out of the closet and into a relation with literature and it validates the use of contemporary methods and sensibility in literary criticism In Sheila Delany's view House of Fame portrays the ambiguity of old or new communication with skeptical fideism as the means of transcending ambiguity Chaucer's

"House of Fame" Sheila Delany, 1975 The Idea of the Labyrinth from Classical Antiquity through the Middle Ages Penelope Reed Doob, 2019-03-15 Ancient and medieval labyrinths embody paradox according to Penelope Reed Doob Their structure allows a double perspective the baffling fragmented prospect confronting the maze treader within and the comprehensive vision available to those without Mazes simultaneously assert order and chaos artistry and confusion articulated clarity and bewildering complexity perfected pattern and hesitant process In this handsomely illustrated book Doob reconstructs from a variety of literary and visual sources the idea of the labyrinth from the classical period through the Middle Ages Doob first examines several complementary traditions of the maze topos showing how ancient historical and geographical writings generate metaphors in which the labyrinth signifies admirable complexity while poetic texts tend to suggest that the labyrinth is a sign of moral duplicity She then describes two common models of the labyrinth and explores their formal implications the unicursal model with no false turnings found almost universally in the visual arts and the multicursal model with blind alleys and dead ends characteristic of literary texts This paradigmatic clash between the labyrinths of art and of literature becomes a key to the metaphorical potential of the maze as Doob's examination of a vast array of materials from the classical period through the Middle Ages suggests She concludes with linked readings of four labyrinths of words Virgil's Aeneid Boethius Consolation of Philosophy Dante's Divine Comedy and Chaucer's House of Fame each of which plays with and transforms received ideas of the labyrinth as well as reflecting and responding to aspects of the texts that influenced it Doob not only provides fresh theoretical and historical perspectives on the labyrinth tradition but also portrays a complex medieval aesthetic that helps us to approach structurally elaborate early works Readers in such fields as Classical literature Medieval Studies Renaissance Studies comparative literature literary theory art history and intellectual history will welcome this wide ranging and illuminating book Chaucer's Philosophical Visions Kathryn L. Lynch, 2000 New readings of Chaucer's dream visions demonstrating his philosophical interests and learning Medieval Manuscripts, Readers and Texts Misty Schieberle, 2024-10 Examines manuscripts of Langland Chaucer Gower Nicholas Love and Arthurian tales alongside other devotional works and archival evidence Professor Kathryn Kerby-Fulton's scholarship has transformed the study of medieval manuscripts and readers particularly in the areas of devotional literature professional scribal production and clerical writing The essays collected here celebrate and reflect her influence and practice of giving careful attention to material contexts and archival sources when reading literature produced in late medieval England They offer new interpretations of scribal practices professional readers activities documentary evidence and challenging material and cultural contexts They also reconsider scholarly practices and assumptions while demonstrating how manuscript and archival studies can energize scholarship on such varied topics as authority reader reception modern editorial perspectives gender and religious activities

Chaucer's Dream Poetry Helen Phillips, Nick Havely, 2016-02-04 Dream literature is regarded as one of the most important genres in medieval literature and is widely studied This text provides a succinct and clear introduction to the five central poems that comprise Chaucer's Dream Poetry and shows his role as a leading adapter of European Literary tradition into English Literature The poems discussed are The Book of the Duchess The Legend of Good Women The Legend of Dido The Parliament of Fowls and The House of Fame Each have an introduction setting the poem within the context of Dream Poetry and Chaucer's own work Appendices of proper names pronunciation and criticism are also given This volume is unique in presenting the poems together in an editorial and critical framework The quality of annotation is unrivalled and will make this text a major addition to the literature suitable for those interested in the genre literary or more general history of the period

The Passenger: Medieval Texts and Transits James L. Smith, 2017-12-08 What strange transactions take place in the mobile spaces between loci How does the flow of forces between fixed points enliven texts suggest new connections and map out the dizzying motion of myriad interactions The essays in this volume were first presented at the 2014 New Chaucer Society Congress in Reykjavik Iceland where a meeting of minds in a shared intermediate space initiated dialogue from diverse perspectives and wended its way through the invisible spaces between concrete categories objects and entities The resulting volume asks a core question what can we learn by tarrying at the nexus points and hubs through which things move in and out of texts attempting to trace not the things themselves or their supposedly stable significations but rather their forms of emergence and retreat of disorder and disequilibrium The answer is complex and intermediate for we ourselves are emerging and retreating within our own systems of transit and experiencing our own disequilibrium Scholarship like transit is never complete and yet never congeals into inertia Through the manifold explorations of the dynamic transit transports scapes and flows found within literary and Chaucerian thought worlds new vistas of motion and motivation emerge Following John Urry's mobile sociology the volume advances the notion that we can no longer view either social worlds or textual worlds as uniform surfaces upon which one can trace or write a history of the horizontal movements of humans and human mentalities rather everything is in constant motion objects images information ideas and mobility is thus also vertical involving human and non human actants The essays in this volume consider then how medieval literary texts in Chaucer's period rewarped time and space by the means of sophisticated transit and transport structures which might be traced within specific works but also across works such as in text networks Motive entities within literature twist and turn interact and collide and destabilise predictable trajectories with unpredictable vigor
