McDonald, 2023-05-08 Poplar Forest is one of two personal residences that Thomas Jefferson designed for himself the other being Monticello Jefferson's wife Martha Wayles Skelton Jefferson inherited the land originally a 6 861 acre parcel at her father's death in 1773 but Jefferson did not begin construction on the house until 1806 and at his death in 1826 he was still working on his little getaway Despite its audacious design it was the first documented octagonal residence in America and the fact that it is one of the very few extant Jeffersonian structures Poplar Forest is not nearly so well known today as its sibling seventy miles to the northeast Undoubtedly this is due in large part to its more remote location in Bedford County Additionally the house remained in private hands until 1984 Travis McDonald situates the site in its rightful position as a historically important Virginia house and he documents its story as central to Jefferson's life and approach to architecture including details of the enslaved community at his western retreat This new informed account will appeal to architectural historians and visitors to the villa retreat as well as to those interested in Jefferson's work and legacy Thomas Jefferson as an Architect and a Designer of Landscapes William Alexander Lambeth, Warren Henry Manning, 1913 Pioneering work on TJ as an architect
