Palliser, 2005-07-14 This comprehensive edition makes available two of the most important sources for population studies in the early modern period The bishops returns of 1563 and 1603 represent the earliest census type information that has survived in England and Wales The 1563 returns surviving from twelve dioceses record the number of households the 1603 documents from nine dioceses were intended to survey religious nonconformity and estimate the number of communicants in each parish A full introductory essay explores the origins of both surveys and illustrates their significance for local and demographic historians and those concerned with social and economic history government and the church A County of Small Towns T. R. Society of Lancashire and Cheshire Historic Society of Lancashire and Cheshire, 2009 Westmorland Hearth Tax Michaelmas 1670 & Surveys 1674-5 Colin Phillips, Catherine Ferguson, Andrew Wareham, 2008 Publications of the Dugdale Society, 2018 Southern History, 2007 The Making of Basingstoke Eric Stokes, Bob Applin, 2008 Small Towns in Early Modern Europe Peter Clark, 2002-05-09

Despite the great wave of publications on European cities and towns in the pre industrial period little has been written about the thousands of small towns which played a key role in the economic social and cultural life of early modern Europe This collection written by leading experts redresses that imbalance It provides the first comparative overview of European small towns from the fifteenth to the early nineteenth century examining their position in the urban hierarchy demographic structures economic trends relations with the countryside and political and cultural developments Case studies discuss networks in all the major European countries as well as looking at the distinctive world of small towns in the more peripheral countries of Scandinavia and central Europe A wide ranging editorial introduction puts individual chapters in historical perspective Rural Economy of England Joan Thirsk, 2003-08-02

No one has done more to emphasise the significance of the land in early modern England than Joan Thirsk whose writings are both an important contribution to its history and point the way for future research The subjects of this collection include the origin and nature of the common fields Tudor enclosures the Commonwealth confiscation of Royalist land and its subsequent return after the Restoration inheritance customs and the role of industries in the rural economy among them stocking knitting A History of the County of Stafford Nigel J. Tringham, 2013
