Direct And Indirect Speech Trends In Linguistics:

Direct and Indirect Speech Florian Coulmas, 2011-07-22 TRENDS IN LINGUISTICS is a series of books that open new perspectives in our understanding of language. The series publishes state of the art work on core areas of linguistics across theoretical frameworks as well as studies that provide new insights by building bridges to neighbouring fields such as neuroscience and cognitive science. TRENDS IN LINGUISTICS considers itself a forum for cutting edge research based on solid empirical data on language in its various manifestations including sign languages. It regards linguistic variation in its synchronic and diachronic dimensions as well as in its social contexts as important sources of insight for a better understanding of the design of linguistic systems and the ecology and evolution of language. TRENDS IN LINGUISTICS publishes monographs and outstanding dissertations as well as edited volumes which provide the opportunity to address controversial topics from different empirical and theoretical viewpoints. High quality standards are ensured through anonymous reviewing.

Grammar as Interpretation Egbert J. Bakker, 2018-07-17 Looking at its subject from the standpoint of modern discourse analysis, this study deals with problems of style and grammar in Greek and Latin texts. Its aim is to shed light on the interaction between the mechanism of the Greek and Latin languages as interactive tools and the structure of the texts that have come down to us. The interpretive orientation offered differs from most literary studies in its taking linguistic observations as point of departure and its considering grammar as a positive factor in the interpretive process. It differs from most linguistic studies in the field in demonstrating the importance of linguistic methodology for classical philology in general. The book contains studies of various authors, genres and text types preceded by an introductory essay on the role of grammar in philology.

Studies in South Slavic and Balkan Linguistics, 2023-04-12 Studies in Slavic and General Linguistics is mainly devoted to the field of descriptive linguistics. Although the series is primarily intended to be a means of publication for linguists from the Low Countries, the editors are pleased to accept contributions by linguists from abroad.

Reported Discourse Tom Güldemann, Manfred von Roncador, 2002-01-01 The present volume unites 15 papers on reported discourse from a wide genetic and geographical variety of languages. Besides the treatment of traditional problems of reported discourse like the classification of its intermediate categories, the book reflects in particular how its grammatical, semantic and pragmatic properties have repercussions in other linguistic domains like tense, aspect, modality, evidentiality, reference tracking and pronominal categories and the grammaticalization history of quotative constructions. Almost all papers present a major shift away from analyzing reported discourse with the help of abstract transformational principles toward embedding it in functional and pragmatic aspects of language. Another central methodological approach pervading this collection consists in the discourse oriented examination of reported discourse based on large corpora of spoken or written texts which is increasingly replacing analyses of constructed decontextualized utterances prevalent in many earlier treatments. The book closes with a comprehensive bibliography on reported discourse of about 1 000 entries.

Discourse Analysis of Biblical Literature Walter Ray Bodine, 1995 In committing themselves to the study of texts linguists have taken a long stride in a literary direction As discourse analysis brings the tools of linguistic analysis to bear on stretches of material larger than the sentence they come into close contact with the artistry of literature In the last third of this century scholars of the Hebrew Bible are gravitating in the same direction Perhaps even more consciously they are studying their texts as literature Cross pollination between these two groups is now in order The present volume is intended to help that happen It originates with biblical scholars and is addressed to our colleagues Its purpose is to introduce to them the developing field of linguistics known as discourse analysis In addition to students of the Hebrew Bible those who study ancient Near Eastern literatures the New Testament and early Jewish writings should find the following essays immediately relevant Students of literatures from other times and areas should also be able to benefit because of the pervasive emphasis on methodology Preface The Grammar of Thinking Daniela E. Casartelli, Silvio Cruschina, Pekka Posio, Stef Spronck, 2023-09-05 Sentence 1 represents the phenomenon of reported thought 2 that of reported speech 1 Sasha thought This is fine or Sasha thought that this would be fine 2 Sasha said This is fine or Sasha said that this would be fine While sentences as in 1 have often been discussed in the context of those in 2 the former have rarely received specific attention This has meant that much of the semantic and structural complexity cross linguistic variation as well as the precise relation between 1 and 2 and related phenomena have remained unstudied Addressing this gap this volume represents the first collection of studies specifically dedicated to reported thought It introduces a wide variety of cross linguistic examples of the phenomenon and brings together authors from linguistic typology corpus and interactional linguistics and formal and functional theories of syntax to shed light on how talking about thoughts can become grammar in the languages of the world The book should be of interest to linguists philosophers of language linguistic anthropologists and communication specialists seeking to understand topics at the boundary of stylistics and morphosyntax as well as the grammar of epistemicity The Yoruba Language Lawrence Olufermi Adewole, 1987
