A photograph of a woman with dark, curly hair, wearing a light-colored, possibly wet, bikini top. She is holding a lit cigarette to her lips and exhaling. The scene is set in front of a window with a white frame, through which a bright, hazy outdoor scene is visible. The overall lighting is warm and somewhat dim, creating a moody atmosphere.

The Cuban Revolution in the 21st Century George Lambie, 2010-10-05 Politics in Cuba have long been analysed as a socialist experiment from the perspective of internal dynamics or international relations but what if the revolutionary process is part of a counter current against neoliberal globalisation Rather than presenting Cuba as a socialist survivor whose performance must be measured against the standards set by the international community George Lambie judges Cuban socialism on the goals that the revolution sets for itself He shows that despite Cuba's isolation in the New World Order and the enormous pressures it has faced to conform its faith in an alternative socialist project has continued and grown After the 2008 financial crash we have seen neoliberalism's fallibility first hand conversely Cuba's promotion of socialist values has a renewed relevance Lambie argues that Cuba is again becoming a symbol and practical example of socialism in action
