Disability And Federalism Comparing Different Approaches To Full Participation:

Disability and Federalism Queen's University (Kingston, Ont.). Institute of Intergovernmental Relations, 2001 An in depth look at the five federal regimes and their approaches to disability

Exploring Disability Identity and Disability Rights through Narratives Ravi Malhotra, Morgan Rowe, 2013-10-30 Building on David M Engel and Frank W Munger's work analyzing the narratives of people with physical and learning disabilities this book examines the life stories of twelve physically disabled Canadian adults through the prism of the social model of disablement Using a grounded theory approach and with extensive reporting of the thoughts of the participants in their own words the book uses narratives to explore whether an advocacy identity helps or hinders dealings with systemic barriers for disabled people in education employment and transportation The book underscores how both physical and attitudinal barriers by educators employers and service providers complicate the lives of disabled people The book places a particular focus on the importance of political economy and the changes to the labour market for understanding the marginalization and oppression of people with disabilities By melding socio legal approaches with insights from feminist critical race and queer legal theory Ravi Malhotra and Morgan Rowe ask if we need to reconsider the social model of disablement and proposes avenues for inclusive legal reform

Active Citizenship and Disability Andrew Power, Janet Lord, Allison DeFranco, 2013-01-14 This book provides an international comparative study of the implementation of disability rights law and policy focused on the emerging principles of self determination and personalisation It explores how these principles have been enshrined in the United Nations Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities and how different jurisdictions have implemented them to enable meaningful engagement and participation by persons with disabilities in society The philosophy of active citizenship underpinning the Convention that all citizens should be able to actively participate in the community provides the core focal point of this book which grounds its analysis in exploring how this goal has been imagined and implemented across a range of countries The case studies examine how different jurisdictions have reformed disability law and policy and reconfigured how support is administered and funded to ensure maximum choice and independence is accorded to people with disabilities

Disability and Social Change Jeanette Robertson, 2020-07-10T00:00:00Z This edited collection uses a critical theory perspective and draws on expertise from a range of contemporary policy and practice areas Contributors include people with disabilities family members researchers academics and practitioners This book is an ideal text for students of social work human services child and youth care and disability studies Chapters include first person accounts from persons with disabilities perspectives of families and historical perspectives as well as a critical exploration of demographics human rights issues disability legislation and policy in Canada theoretical approaches to disability intersectionality and disability Aboriginal people and disability mental health disability principles of anti ableist practice advocacy and strategies for change This book offers as a fresh Canadian perspective on disability from a critical lens challenging and inspiring students and practitioners alike to think outside the box and to examine their own attitudes and values toward disability ensuring that they do not inadvertently impose ableist and oppressive practices on one of Canada's most marginalized populations

Disability Across Continents Ramakrishnan Veerabathiran, Sheena Mariam Thomas, 2025-05-22 This book offers a comprehensive exploration of the shifting landscape of disability rights and policies across two culturally rich and diverse continents. By adopting a multidisciplinary approach, the book integrates historical, cultural, socioeconomic, and technological perspectives on disability, providing readers with a broad understanding of the issues faced by disabled individuals in Asia and Africa. It examines the evolution of disability rights over time and the varying impacts of these changes on different communities. From traditional beliefs to modern societal structures, the book highlights how indigenous knowledge and local practices influence attitudes toward disability. A unique feature of the book is its focus on underexplored areas such as the role of media in shaping disability narratives, the importance of sports in promoting social inclusion, and the rise of emerging technologies like AI and assistive devices in enhancing accessibility. By also focusing on grassroots movements, the growing influence of young advocates, and the need for sustainable future policies, the book not only reflects on past and present challenges but also offers forward-looking solutions. It serves as a vital resource for understanding how policy changes and cultural shifts can lead to more inclusive societies across Asia and Africa.

Disability and Federalism David Cameron, Fraser Valentine, 2012 Economic Rights in Canada and the United States Rhoda E. Howard-Hassmann, Claude E. Welch, Jr., 2011-06-03 Readers in Western developed countries are most familiar with abuses of political and civil rights, but the international human rights regime also embraces a set of laws regarding economic rights. These rights include the right to work and to just and favorable working conditions, the right to join and form trade unions, the right to social security, specific rights for the family, the right to an adequate standard of living including food, clothing, housing, and the continuous improvement of living conditions, and the right to the highest attainable standard of physical and mental health. In original essays by scholars senior and junior, this volume explains how these rights are realized or violated in Canada and the United States. Contributors analyze the philosophy, law, and politics of economic rights and discuss specific issues such as poverty, health care, and the rights of people with disabilities. Central to the problems of both countries are the human rights abuses evident in all contemporary capitalist societies. When the inequalities among citizens are not cushioned by a national commitment to economic rights, or when governments fail to maintain social safety nets for all citizens, economic rights are at risk. Contributors consider the problem from the perspective of their own countries: Canada, the United States, and for contrast, the Netherlands. They do so in order to explore whether their own countries fall short of meeting international standards of economic rights. They also address the criticism often made by non-Western scholars of human rights that their Western colleagues preach human rights abroad without regard to the human rights flaws at home.

Disability and Federalism Queen's University (Kingston, Ont.). Institute of Intergovernmental Relations, 2001. An in-depth look at the five federal regimes and their approaches to disability Working towards Equity Dustin Galer, 2018-05-04 In Working towards Equity Dustin Galer argues that paid work significantly shaped the experience of disability during the late twentieth century Using a critical analysis of disability in archival records personal collections government publications and a series of interviews Galer demonstrates how demands for greater access among disabled people for paid employment stimulated the development of a new discourse of disability in Canada Family advocates helped people living in institutions move out into the community as rehabilitation professionals played an increasingly critical role in the lives of working age adults with disabilities Meanwhile civil rights activists crafted a new consumer led vision of social and economic integration Employment was and remains a central component in disabled peoples efforts to become productive autonomous and financially secure members of Canadian society Working towards Equity offers new in depth analysis on rights activism as it relates to employment sheltered workshops deinstitutionalization and labour markets in the contemporary context in Canada Federalism and Labour Market Policy Queen's University (Kingston, Ont.). Institute of Intergovernmental Relations, 2004 Though these countries vary significantly in both their federal institutions and labour market policies they all seek to define a relatively coherent approach for federal and sub unit governments in a policy field where collaboration and coordination appear unavoidable In some cases such as Germany collaboration is highly developed and policies are ambitious and integrated in others such as Switzerland diversity and decentralization are privileged and policies remain fragmented Finally there are countries such as the United States that do not grant much importance to labour market policies these five federations and so help us understand how political institutions and public policies are inter related Federalism and labour market policies certainly influence each other but there is no simple relationship between them Comparing different governance and employment strategies is nevertheless very instructive because it shows the range of approaches and policies that are possible in federal countries Comparing Federal Systems Ronald Lampman Watts, 2008 Countries studied include the United States Switzerland Australia Austria and Germany as examples of developed industrial societies India and Malaysia as examples of multilingual and multicultural federations Belgium and Spain as examples of emerging federal systems that illustrate bicommunal and asymmetrical approaches and Czechoslovakia and Pakistan as examples of bicommunal federations that have failed Watts compares the interaction of social diversity and political institutions distribution of powers and finances processes contributing to flexibility or rigidity in adjustment extent of internal symmetry or asymmetry degree of centralization and decentralization character of representation in federal institutions role of constitutions and courts provisions for constitutional rights and secession and pathology in federations Improving Connections Between Governments and Nonprofit and Voluntary Organizations Queen's University (Kingston, Ont.). School of Policy Studies, 2002 Governments and non profit organisations are becomingly increasingly intertwined in a complex policy dance as they attempt to improve service delivery to Canadians Yet little is known about developments across the various jurisdictions This collection of conference papers and notes begins an important dialogue across the divides that exist nationally and internationally Topics include the Voluntary Sector Initiative regulatory and legislative reform charity commissions non governmental organisations abroad civil society and volunteerism privacy and language issues in the sector and challenges facing governments and voluntary organisations as they learn to work together Improving Connections between Governments Nonprofit and Voluntary Organisations resulted from the Queen s Public Policy and Third Sector conference that brought together prominent Canadian representatives from the third sector federal and provincial governments and academic community Special contributions are included from Chief Charity Commissioner for England and Wales John Stoker General Secretary for CARE International Guy Tousignant and BC Minister of Community Development Co operatives and Volunteers Jenny Kwan Contributors include Susan Fletcher PCO Susan Carter Voluntary Sector Secretariat Patrick Monahan Osgoode Hall Arthur Drache QC Monica Patton Community Foundations of Canada Al Hatton National Voluntary Organisations Rainer Knopff Calgary Terry Goertzen Manitoba Hal Gerein BC Deena White Universit de Montr al Michael Hall Canadian Centre for Philanthropy Paddy Bowen Volunteer Canada Miyo Yamashita Mt Sinai Hospital David Cameron University of Toronto Penelope Rowe Community Services Council Vivian Randell Newfoundland Katherine Graham Carleton Tim Simboli Ottawa Carleton Family Service Centre Peter Levesque CURA

Bridging the Divide Tom Axworthy, 2008 Responding to the contemporary situation of escalating violence often driven by religious and ideological differences the InterAction Council of former world leaders engages scholars and religious leaders of all world faiths in one of the most important debates of our time Bridging the Divide poses fundamental questions Can religion help build bridges between civilizations in conflict Is a global ethic possible Believing that religious misunderstanding has led to world conflict the Council led by Helmut Schmidt former chancellor of the federal republic of Germany has developed a research agenda to ask the following questions Can religious become a force for peace Can the virtue of tolerance be taught Do world religions share a core ethic What can be done to thwart those who exploit and abuse faith for their own ends Bridging the Divide makes available the results of these explorations The first two sections present perspectives on Buddhism Christianity Confucianism Hinduism Islam Judaism and Shinto Religious practitioners and scholars look beyond the differences toward a common goal a global ethic of mutual respect compassion and peace In the third section politicians and academics discuss the possibility of a universal ethic while the fourth section presents a culmination of this work a draft of a Universal Declaration of Human Responsibilities
