

DISARMING

Nuclear Diplomacy

STRANGERS

with North Korea

LEON V. SIGAL

Disarming Strangers

James George Frazer

Disarming Strangers:

Disarming Strangers Leon V. Sigal, 1999-07-01 In June 1994 the United States went to the brink of war with North Korea. With economic sanctions impending, President Bill Clinton approved the dispatch of substantial reinforcements to Korea and plans were prepared for attacking the North's nuclear weapons complex. The turning point came in an extraordinary private diplomatic initiative by former President Jimmy Carter and others to reverse the dangerous American course and open the way to a diplomatic settlement of the nuclear crisis. Few Americans know the full details behind this story or perhaps realize the devastating impact it could have had on the nation's post-Cold War foreign policy. In this lively and authoritative book, Leon Sigal offers an inside look at how the Korean nuclear crisis originated, escalated, and was ultimately defused. He begins by exploring a web of intelligence failures by the United States and intransigence within South Korea and the International Atomic Energy Agency. Sigal pays particular attention to an American mindset that prefers coercion to cooperation in dealing with aggressive nations. Drawing upon in-depth interviews with policymakers from the countries involved, he discloses the details of the buildup to confrontation, American refusal to engage in diplomatic give and take, the Carter mission, and the diplomatic deal of October 1994. In the post-Cold War era, the United States is less willing and able than before to expend unlimited resources abroad; as a result, it will need to act less unilaterally and more in concert with other nations. What will become of an American foreign policy that prefers coercion when conciliation is more likely to serve its national interests? Using the events that nearly led the United States into a second Korean War, Sigal explores the need for policy change when it comes to addressing the challenge of nuclear proliferation and avoiding conflict with nations like Russia, Iran, and Iraq. What the Cuban missile crisis was to fifty years of superpower conflict, the North Korean nuclear crisis is to the coming era.

Nuclear Asymmetry and Deterrence Jan Ludvik, 2016-11-10 offers a new, broader conception of deterrence theory, examines five key historical case studies of nuclear deterrence dyads, nuclear weapons proliferation is a topic of increasing importance, will be of interest to students of nuclear proliferation, strategic studies, deterrence theory, security studies, and IR.

The Killing of the Divine King James George Frazer, 1911 Frazer's series, which attempted to define the shared elements of religious belief and scientific thought, discussing fertility, rites, human sacrifice, the dying god, the scapegoat, and many other symbols and practices whose influences had extended into 20th-century culture. His thesis is that old religions were fertility cults that revolved around the worship and periodic sacrifice of a sacred king. Frazer proposed that mankind progresses from magic through religious belief to scientific thought. The Unfinished Presidency Douglas Brinkley, 1998 Although his biography is unauthorized, Brinkley has had unique and intimate access to the former president and has fully captured the ubiquitous Carter's prickly personality and remarkable political life.
