American Book Publishing Record ,2003 The Stuff of Spectatorship Caetlin Benson-Allott,2021-04-06 Film and television create worlds but they are also of a world a world that is made up of stuff to which humans attach meaning Think of the last time you watched a movie the chair you sat in the snacks you ate the people around you maybe the beer or joint you consumed to help you unwind all this stuff shaped your experience of media and its influence on you The material culture around film and television changes how we make sense of their content not to mention the very concepts of the mediums Focusing on material cultures of film and television reception The Stuff of Spectatorship argues that the things we share space with and consume as we consume television and film influence the meaning we gather from them This book examines the roles that six different material cultures have played in film and television culture since the 1970s including video marketing branded merchandise drugs and alcohol and even gun violence and shows how objects considered peripheral to film and television culture are in fact central to its past and future

Movie Dinners Becky Thorn,2010-09-06 The prospect of dinner and a movie is always an enticing one Whether it is a date early on in a relationship with all the apprehension and barely contained frisson that that entails or an opportunity for a child free evening and the chance to watch a full length film of your choice without having to keep your finger on the remote to pause for toilet breaks the combination of food and cinema is a winning one Food is inextricably linked to all aspects of our lives food for feasts food to comfort food to harm and always food to raise the sexual tension Cinematographers know this too So often there are dishes in a movie that deserve a mention in the credits so pivotal are they to the storyline You only have to mention Silence of the Lambs for fava beans and chianti spring into the conversation and apple pie is often off or suddenly back on the menu for anyone who has recently watched American Pie for the first time Let us get one thing straight here the dishes celebrated in this book are not physically available at the pictures Food served in containers too large to be used as airline carryon baggage is not what this book is about The recipes here are for those movie moments that made you step away from the popcorn bucket Who doesn't want to slice garlic with a razor blade to create the garlicky spaghetti sauce so lovingly made in Goodfellas or jump through the screen to nibble absolutely everything in Willy Wonka's chocolate factory including Johnny Depp although that may be just my own fantasy and every woman on this planet wants what she's having in When Harry met Sally So this is your chance if it was eaten on screen then the recipe for it may well be in this book Unless of course you fancy making the chilled monkey brains from Indiana Jones and the Temple of Doom in which case I suggest you still buy the book but change your dessert plans What about a nice Apple Strudel from The Sound of Music instead

Eat what You Watch Andrew Rea,2017 Many of our favourite movies come with a side of iconic food moments the comforting frothy butterbeer from Harry Potter the sumptuous apple strudel from Inglorious Basterds the delectable deli fare from When Harry Met Sally or Remy the rat chef's signature ratatouille in Ratatouille In this cookbook author Andrew Rea of the hit YouTube channel Binging with Babish recreates these iconic food scenes and many more With recipes from more than 40 classic and cult films Eat What You Watch is the perfect gift for both movie buffs and cooks who want to add some cinematic flair to their cooking repertoire
