Manifesting Power Tracy L. Sweely, 1999 Publisher description Manifesting Power confronts the relationship between gender and power within prehistoric and historic societies It addresses the extent to which our reconceptions of the nature of power and of relations between the sexes are rooted in our own experience of western society and argues that both conditions and perceptions may have been quite different among peoples of the past This collection includes nine innovative chapters which draw on data from a range of periods and areas By looking at the evidence for gender distinctions both from archaeological sites and from ethnographic observation the contributors explore what these distinctions can reveal about power relationships in general They argue that the evidence often does not point to the existence of hierarchical gender relationships and explore the forms of power available to women among the Maya and Aztec and in prehistoric Denmark Alaska and the southeastern United States

Contemporary Archaeology; a Guide to Theory and Contributions Mark P. Leone, 1972 Intended as a guide or reader in graduate or advanced undergraduate courses and as a reference for professionals interested in the latest archaeological achievements this significant compilation of articles dealing with the theoretical bases and substantive accomplishments of contemporary archaeology provides the coherent theory and concrete results of recent developments in anthropological archaeology The thirty three contributions here brought together most of them previously published but several of which were written especially for this volume are divided into seven main sections and are linked together by Mr Leone's extensive commentary and discussion A comprehensive bibliography provides unifying concepts of the work presented here and serves as a further guide to contemporary developments Quirigua
