Disciples Of Light Photographs In The Brewster Album:

Disciples of Light Graham Smith, 1990-08-09 Disciples of Light contains almost two hundred of the earliest known English and Scottish photographs most of which have never been published The volume includes all the significant photographs in the album compiled by Sir David Brewster an important early patron of photography Photographs by William Henry Fox Talbot the inventor of negative positive paper photography are included as well as works by other photographers who improved upon Talbot's invention The text discusses the context in which the album was compiled the personalities of the photographers and the groups of specific images that it contains Numerous comparative illustrations are included as well as a checklist of all photographic images a bibliography and an index of all proper names and place names Disciples of Light Graham Smith, 2013

The Beginning and the End of the World Robert Crawford, 2011-06-14 In a work of spectacular imagination and remarkable synthesis poet Robert Crawford celebrates St Andrews the first town in the world to have its people buildings and natural environment thoroughly documented through photography The Beginning and the End of the World tells the stories of several pioneering Scottish photographers linking their work to one of the nineteenth century's most scandalous and hotly debated publications Here is the extraordinary intellectual life of an eccentric society rich in apocalyptically minded Victorian inventors and authors whose work has had an international impact The protagonists include a very quarrelsome professor a cello playing ex military golfer a notorious scientist a married couple coping with mental breakdown and a physician obsessed with sewage In paying full attention to these people's inter relationship implicitly and explicitly this book suggests that their lasting legacies may have a bearing on our own arguments about environmental sustainability and the possibility of largescale extinction

Encyclopedia of nineteenth-century photography John Hannavy, 2008 The first comprehensive encyclopedia of world photograph up to the beginning of the twentieth century It sets out to be the standard definitive reference work on the subject for years to come

Planning and Designing Sustainable and Resilient Landscapes Cerasella Crăciun, Maria Bostenaru Dan, 2014-02-03 This book deals with planning issues in landscape architecture which start at the evaluation of the existing fabric of society its history and memory approached and conserved through photography film and scenographic installations a way in which the archetypes can be investigated be it industrial derelict sites or already green spaces and cultural landscapes It provides approaches to intervention through rehabilitation and upgrade eventually in participative manner To such evaluation and promotion a couple of disciplines can contribute such as history of art geography and communication science and of course landscape architecture The field of landscape architecture reunites points of view from such different disciplines with a view to an active approach a contemporary intervention or conservation The book presents case studies from several European countries Romania Germany Austria Italy Portugal mostly for large landscape in the outskirts of the cities and in the parks

Impressed by Light Roger Taylor, Larry John Schaaf, 2007 Sumario Photography and an age of paradox The formative years the calotype in the 1840s The great exhibition of 1851 Battling patents and gaining legitimacy The calotype finds its place Subjects fit for the camera British sensibilities 1855 1857 Echoes of the grand tour Under an Indian sky Commercialism advances the calotype declines

Nineteenth-century Photographs and Architecture Micheline Nilsen, 2013 Eschewing the limiting idea that nineteenth century architecture photography merely reflects functionality the objective of this collection is to reflect the aesthetic intellectual and cultural concerns of the time The essays hold appeal for social and cultural historians as well as those with an interest in the fields of art history urban geography history of travel and tourism Nineteenth century photographers captured what could be seen and what they wanted to be seen Their images informed of exploration progress heritage and destruction Architecture was a staple subject for the first generation of photographers as it patiently tolerated the long exposures of the early processes During its formative decades photography responded to evolutionary cultural forces of market and artistic production Photographs of architecture reflected a specific political or social context modulated through individual points of view For this reason the examination of each photographic image as a primary visual document and an aesthetic object rather than a technical milestone on a chronological trajectory affords a richer multi faceted approach to the extensive and complex corpus of photographs taken by photographers all over the world This project acknowledges the importance of technique in the early decades of photography but focuses on the thematic content of the material It places the photography of architecture in an international context under the contemporary critical lens sharpened by theoretical and cultural examinations of the topic

Presenting Pictures Bernard S. Finn, Robert Bud, Helmuth Trischler, 2004 Aided by the insights provided by museum artefacts the contributors to this study examine some of the technical problems and social consequences related to the transmission of pictures

Bulletin - Museums of Art and Archaeology, University of Michigan University of Michigan. Museum of Art, 1983 Photoresearcher, 1990 Volte e figure Linda Pagnotta, 2009

Photography 1900 Julie Lawson, Ray McKenzie, A. D. Morrison-Low, 1993 Photography and the Doctor A. D. Morrison-Low, David Bruce (Film historian), 2018 In 2015 portraits by Dr John Adamson were displayed at the National Museum of Scotland exhibition Photography A Victorian Sensation The audience response to these powerful works was such that this book has been produced the first devoted to placing his work in its historical context and to acquainting a new audience with his work which for conservation reasons cannot be displayed all the time Dr Adamson 1809 70 was the older brother of the better known Robert Adamson 1821 48 famous for his pioneering photography work with D O Hill John Adamson remained an amateur his photography had to be fitted in around his busy medical practice in St Andrews The photographs are drawn mainly from two extremely early and significant albums presented to the Museum in the 1940s An Appendix has technical information on for example camera obscura lenses daguerreotype calotype the albumen process and the collodian negative process Henry Fox Talbot William Henry Fox Talbot, 1992 Light from the Dark Room Sara Stevenson, A. D. Morrison-Low, 1995 This book traces the origins of the new art in the scientific examination of light and colour during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries      History of Photography Laurent Roosens, 1994      On Paper, 1997      Literature & Photography Interactions, 1840-1990 Jane Marjorie Rabb, 1995 This remarkable book traces comprehensively for the first time the give and take between these sister arts by gathering writings about photography and photographs by and of writers from England Europe and the United States over the last century and a half      Sun Pictures, 1987      Artbibliographies Modern, 1992 Abstracts of journal articles books essays exhibition catalogs dissertations and exhibition reviews The scope of ARTbibliographies Modern extends from artists and movements beginning with Impressionism in the late 19th century up to the most recent works and trends in the late 20th century Photography is covered from its invention in 1839 to the present A particular emphasis is placed upon adding new and lesser known artists and on the coverage of foreign language literature Approximately 13 000 new entries are added each year Published with title LOMA from 1969 1971
