Centering Race, Gender, and Class in Postsecondary Planning Nicole E. Holland, Raquel Farmer-Hinton, 2025 This book encourages educational practitioners to reimagine school based postsecondary preparatory opportunities to be more inclusive cohesive and supportive of students and their families With specific attention paid to students who have been traditionally underrepresented in college going and college graduating populations the authors use theory research and empirical evidence to intentionally center and elevate students who have been overlooked or marginalized in the postsecondary planning process Based on a college and career readiness program that supported the postsecondary aspirations of Black teenage girls this book identifies how where and when school policies and practices create barriers to college and career planning Within that program traditional postsecondary practices were redesigned with specific consideration of the essential elements of time care cultural relevance and lived experiences This practical resource describes key approaches that encourage educators counselors and administrators to revise their own practices to be more beneficial and inclusive for today s diverse college aspirants Book Features Challenges school practitioners administrators and district leaders to reexamine the policies and practices they are using to prepare students for postsecondary lives Demonstrates how to intentionally dismantle one size fits all approaches to postsecondary preparation by centering the needs of diverse students Includes insights and reflections from a three year college and career readiness program in a public high school in partnership with a group of Black teenage girls Provides intentional strategies for including race class and gender in postsecondary planning

How Communities Build Stronger Schools A. Dodd, J. Konzal, 2016-03-05 If it takes a village to raise a child Anne Wescott Dodd and Jean L Konzal feel that it takes a community to make a school Not content with the idea of a school being contained within four walls and existing only for a few hours every day Dodd and Konzal know that a school which looks after the complete child exists far beyond its four walls and for the whole 24 hours in each day They present a radical democratic vision of the public school where everyone not just students teachers and parents plays a part in shaping our children and consequently our future
