Translational Radiation Oncology Jeffrey A. Bakal, Daniel Kim, David Wazer, Adam E.M. Eltorai, 2023-08-03 Translational Radiation Oncology covers the principles of evidence based medicine and applies them to the design of translational research. The book provides valuable discussions on the critical appraisal of published studies and recent developments in radiation oncology, allowing readers to learn how to evaluate the quality of such studies with respect to measuring outcomes and make effective use of all types of evidence. By reading this book, researchers have access to a practical approach to help them navigate challenging considerations in study design and implementation. It is a valuable resource for researchers, oncologists, and members of the biomedical field who want to understand more about translational research applied to the field of radiation oncology. Translational medicine serves as an indispensable tool in grant writing and funding efforts, so understanding how to apply its principles to research is necessary to guarantee that results will be impactful to patients. Provides a clear process for understanding, designing, executing, and analyzing clinical and translational research. Presents practical, step-by-step guidance to help readers take ideas from the lab to the bedside. Written by a team of oncologists, radiologists, and clinical research experts that fully cover translational research in radiation oncology.

Digital Competence Development in Early Childhood Professionals Sarika Kewalramani, Weipeng Yang, Maria Dardanou, Maria Hatzigianni, 2025-12-04 This book examines innovative recent developments in curricula and pedagogical discourses around early childhood professionals' digital competence development via professional development avenues. By expanding the notion of digital technologies integration, teaching perspectives, and educators' practices in early childhood education, the authors not only conceptualise a professional development model but also apply the model to bring together research across cultural contexts. Presenting findings from four cases, it offers research-informed, tangible examples of teacher-centric professional development, one that inspires early childhood professionals, teacher educators, and pre-service teachers to use a variety of multimodal technologies within their repertoire of play-based practices, e.g., STEM-focused play for and with young children, teaching computational thinking. Case studies in this book are evidence of how practitioners can come together to build communities of practice to support their digital competence development as critical pedagogues and integrate a variety of evolving technology-based play, e.g., AI platforms, while engaging in paradigmatic debates. Readers will better appreciate the growth in pragmatic applications of technologies together with theoretical perspectives and methodological approaches. This will be a valuable resource for any academic or practitioner, whether beginning or expert, in understanding how digital competence development occurs through cultural learnings, is inclusive, not discipline-based, is holistic. In reframing early childhood professionals' digital competence development as a naturalistic process, it will inspire educators to integrate a range of digital and multimodal technologies in their everyday practices.
