From software analysing interviewees' facial expressions and tone of voice to video games assessing their performance to personality profiles built from candidates' social media, almost all major employers use AI in recruitment. Programmes track their staff's activity, group dynamics, and physical health, identifying who is productive, a bully, worth long-term investment, or likely to quit. But can we trust them? In a world of severe job insecurity, workplace algorithms are on the brink of dominating or even threatening us if we don't fight back.
