Children in the UK Jieun Kiaer, 2025-01-14 This book demonstrates the importance of raising multilingual children in the UK both for the children's own benefit and for the benefit of society as a whole. Against the backdrop of both the rich linguistic diversity already present in the UK and the challenges faced by any languages other than a few major European languages to find any space in educational contexts, the author challenges the myth that multilingualism hinders English language acquisition and use, instead emphasising the cultural and cognitive advantages of multilingual education and support for home and community languages. The book is a call to action for educators, policymakers, and parents, combining practical strategies with research-based insights to support its readers in advocating for multilingual education. It presents a hopeful vision for education in the UK where teachers can combine technological innovations and the linguistic resources of their classrooms and communities to support and promote multilingualism. Neutrosophic Stance Detection and fsQCA-Based Necessary Condition Analysis for Causal Hypothesis Assessment in AI-Enhanced Learning Jesús Rafael Hechavarría-Hernández, Maikel Y. Leyva Vazquez, Florentin Smarandache, This study addresses the ambiguities in empirical findings on artificial intelligence AI in education by proposing a new methodological framework that combines neutrosophic stance detection and Fuzzy Set Qualitative Comparative Analysis fsQCA. This approach explicitly models truth indeterminacy and falsity, allowing for the synthesis of contradictory research. The authors evaluated four causal hypotheses related to AI-based learning using a survey of 24 university participants to explore the necessary conditions for perceived learning improvements. The results indicate that the digital divide is a perfectly necessary condition for effective AI-enhanced learning. The findings also reveal that AI feedback and AI platform use are necessary, though not sufficient for learning improvements, but generate significant uncertainty. The study concludes that the neutrosophic fsQCA framework is a viable technique for synthesizing ambiguous findings and provides empirical evidence that digital equity and high quality design are crucial for the successful integration of AI in education.
