attention especially concerning its political implications and obstacles Besides these political discussions figures of projects usually worth billions of dollars are circulating yet there are no papers examining the initiative based on economic theories and specifically focusing on the initiative's true capability to increase economic development in participating countries The common assessment is that huge transport and other infrastructure projects are beneficial for developing countries as they may boost trade and economic growth However this simplistic assumption should not be accepted without evidence as unproductive investments can have a huge negative impact on these economies thus this thesis will take a deeper look at the BRI's economic characteristics and compare them to economic development theories as well as theories about the correlation of economic growth and transport infrastructure investments In this way it intends to clarify the potential impact on participating countries economic development
