Chinese Firms Between Hierarchy And Market:

Chinese Firms Between Hierarchy and Market D. Chen, 1994-11-13 This book is about the enterprise reform in China in general and the Contract Management Responsibility System the CMRS in particular The latter is an institutional arrangement to deal with the relation between the government and the state owned enterprise which has always been at the centre of the enterprise reform This research is based on four in depth case studies of Chinese state owned companies

Chinese Firms Between Hierarchy and Market, 1994 This book is about the enterprise reform in China in general and the Contract Management Responsibility System the CMRS in particular The latter is an institutional arrangement to deal with the relation between the government and the state owned enterprise which has always been at the centre of the enterprise reform This research is based on four in depth case studies of Chinese state owned companies Chinese Firms and Technology in the Reform Era Yizheng Shi, 2012-11-12 In Chinese Firms and Technology in the Reform Era Yizheng Shi analyses the technological behaviour of state owned firms In particular he shows how they have imported utilised and assimilated foreign technology into their operations The author argues that despite being granted more autonomy and having to face increased competition Chinese firms are still not motivated to assimilate properly imported technology because of the absence of well delineated property rights

Chinese Firms Between Hierarchy and Market Derong Chen, 1995 This book explores the enterprise reform in China in general and the Contract Management Responsibility System CMRS in particular The latter is an institutional arrangement to deal with the relation between the government and the state owned enterprise which has always been at the centre of the enterprise reform This book is based on four in depth case studies and reveals the interaction taking place between the government and enterprise under the system The research shows that to establish a market type relation between the government and enterprise is a complicated and dynamic process It involves understanding two different economic mechanisms market and hierarchy and the interactions taken by two parties Drawing on empirical work the CMRS is examined from an institutional perspective and provides a holistic view of the changes in Chinese enterprises

Partnering with Chinese Firms Yadong Lou, 2019-07-17 This title was first published in 2000 This work is aimed at international managers or business students who are interested in emerging markets particularly China It provides conceptual backgrounds analytical frameworks managerial insights business guidance and practical evidence concerning partner selection for both foreign and Chinese investors It addresses how foreign companies should select ideal Chinese firms as well as what Chinese firms are looking for from foreign investors The book is divided into three parts The first part presents an overview of multinational enterprises MNEs in China and outlines the economic environment facing these firms The second part delineates how to select appropriate partner firms from both foreign and Chinese parents perspectives The third part includes ten case studies showing how leading MNEs in the world adopt entry and co operative strategies including partner selection that align properly with internal capabilities external environment and organizational needs Based on a variety of archival and Internet sources these case studies are prepared by the author for discussion purposes China's Economic Transition, 1978-2000 -- an Alternative Institutional Analysis Stanley Zhao-xiong Yang,2002

Government and Market in China Jian Zhang,2004 This book examines the key role played by local governments in China's market oriented economic reform process since 1978 In particular it addresses the much debated questions of why Communist Party officials at the local level embraced market reform despite its potentially detrimental effects on their power and how the choices they made have shaped institutional changes and the pattern of development in the economies under their jurisdiction In contrast to most recent studies of local governments in China which have tended to explain local state activism in terms of the economic interests of local government officials this book highlights the role that political interests have played in shaping economic behaviour The contention is that the active involvement of local governments in the economy has been motivated not only by a desire to seek economic benefits but also and more importantly by political considerations The political perspective emphasised in this book leads to a reassessment of the nature and effect of the role of local government in the economic growth and institutional changes in China's transitional economy Tracing the behaviour of local government to its political origin the book not only explains more fully the motivational sources of economic activism at the local level but also demonstrates the contradictory ways in which local governments intervene in the economy the internal weakness of the local state led development and how problems caused by politically motivated economic intervention catalysed the privatisation of the local government run economic sector during mid 1990s Tendencies of Regionalism in Contemporary China Yu-ming Shaw,1997 The Evolutionary Dynamics of China's Small- and Medium-sized Enterprises in the 1990s Laixiang Sun,Edward X. Gu,Robert J. McIntyre,1999 中国经济的转型,1996 Economic Efficiency and Productivity Growth in the Asia-Pacific Region Tsu-Tan Fu,Cliff J. Huang,C. A. Knox Lovell,1999 This book provides new insights into the performance of key economies in the Asia Pacific region during the last three decades It critically examines productivity growth factor accumulation and economic efficiency at both the macro and micro levels The authors use a variety of empirical techniques to measure the sources of economic growth in Hong Kong Singapore Taiwan Korea Japan Malaysia Thailand and China The techniques employed range from traditional growth accounting to econometric frontier estimation and data envelopment analysis As a comparison to the Asia Pacific region the growth experiences of G7 and 18 OECD countries are analyzed The authors consider among other issues the influential role of trade in the region macroeconomic management income capital labor productivity technology and investment This innovative new book will be of interest to students and scholars of growth economics public policy and Asian studies The Performance of the State-owned Enterprises in China Ping Zhang,2004 Ownership, Control, and Performance of International Joint Ventures Duan Xiansheng,1998 The Chinese Economy ,2004 Earnings and Education in Urban China in 1991 Rong Wang,1999 Provides an empirical analysis of the relationship between education and earnings in China's urban areas where one year of schooling increased total annual earnings by roughly 5 per cent in 1991 Examines the effects of education on earnings and as a function by gender sector and by type of earnings of individuals Indicates that China had lower returns to education than countries such as the United States and Australia Issues & Studies ,2002 Strategy and Structure in Chinese Firms Douglas Guthrie,1997 Wage Reform, Soft Budget Constraints and Competition Jian Sun,1999 Based on a 1995 survey covering 36 industries and 663 enterprises in Jiangsu Sichuan Shanxi and Jilin over the period 1990 1994 State, Market, and Organizational Form Ayşe Buğra, Behlül Üsdiken,1997 The book presents inquiries into the contemporary world economy namely the spectacular economic success of East Asia political and organizational restructuring in Western industrialized countries and the post communist transformation process in former centrally planned economies The contributions share a common concern with societal determinants of economic and organizational activities Can "legal Person Socialism" Save China's State Sector? Keun Lee,1995
