Chinese Legal Framework for Foreign Investment and Its Implications N. T. Wang, 1986-01-01      Form Vs. Substance
Caroline Slo-Chin Sheu, 1996      The Legal Framework of EU-China Investment Relations Wenhua Shan, 2005-10-21 EU investment in China has increased dramatically since the early 1990s and is poised to increase further in light of China's recent accession to the World Trade Organisation This book explores and critically appraises the existing legal framework governing EU-China investment relations particularly EU investment in China The current legal framework is composed of Chinese law EU law and applicable international law but the Chinese law is unsystematic and hard to discover and the EU has acquired only shared external investment competence which is vaguely defined The applicable international treaties are incomplete incoherent or either too general or too specialised Besides this the international fora to settle investment disputes are still not readily available Furthermore while law has played a very important role in decision making by EU investors the Chinese legal system is generally perceived as ineffective and lacking in effective enforcement of court and arbitration decisions What the book demonstrates is that the time is ripe for a new international legal framework for foreign investment in China and that as EU-China economic and political relations continue to improve construction of such a framework is not only necessary but also possible      Chinese Law Jianfu Chen, 2023-09-25 Law in particular its actual functioning in any given society is above all a part of the culture of that society a part of its historical political social and intellectual creation If a black letter approach towards law in the West is under increasing criticism it is particularly unhelpful if not misleading in understanding Chinese law its nature and developments Rather to understand Chinese law its nature and developments we need to examine the Chinese legal traditions the prevailing political and economic situations Party policies on economic reform and tolerance towards political liberalisation and scholarly discussions and debate This is the approach of this book Its aim is to put Chinese law in context to outline the nature and present status of its development and to analyse the meaning of the law within the Chinese context However this monograph does not ignore the practical needs for determining the precise contents of the black letter law either A study of this kind necessarily involves a process of topic selection However to avoid over generalisation and over simplification it also demands a considerable degree of comprehensiveness in coverage For this reason the book covers what the Chinese scholars term fundamental law and basic branches of law while other topics are covered because they are either crucial for the understanding of the law such as legal traditions in China or of practical importance such as foreign investment and trade Chapter One provides an historical background to traditional Chinese legal culture and modern law reforms The historical background of specific topics is examined as the topics are analysed in the following chapters Chapter Two deals with the changing fate of law under Communist rule Its focus is on the underlying factors and justifications for such changes Chapter Three introduces discussions on specific branches of law from public law constitutional law law making administrative law criminal law criminal procedure law to private law civil law family law contracts law on business entities and law on foreign investment and trade Each of these is dealt with in a separate chapter After the analysis of these substantial topics certain conclusions are drawn which attempt to define the nature of Chinese law and its developments in present day China

abstract The paper examines whether China fulfilled its reform commitments as set out in the WTO Accession Protocol for China and its appendixes The paper focuses on investment related reform commitments non discrimination national treatment forced technology transfers intellectual property regime SOEs and subsidies China has been exposed to criticism that the requirements and obligations set out in the WTO protocol have not been fully met China has faced backlash for the unequal treatment of foreign companies compared to domestic companies for instance regarding market entry conditions forced transfers of technology and know how the protection of intellectual property rights the award of contracts in public tender procedures and access to financing The People s Republic of China was also accused of strong state intervention and SOE subsidies to enable highly competitive prices in global trade for example causing dumping prices Arguably this public opinion has gained even more traction due to the ongoing US China trade war with US American punitive tariffs on Chinese exports exceeding US 500bn by 2020
