Chinese Local History Eduard B. Vermeer, 2019-03-13 During the past few years some 200 stone inscriptions have been copied by the Chinese historian Lin Renchuan in different places in South Fukien In 1987 in the course of a study of the history of land reclamation I had the occasion to roam through the mountains and coastal plains of South Fukien with Professor Lin and read his collection Most of the texts have never been published in any form A few usually by famous authors such as for instance Tsai Hsiang-jung have already been included in one or more of the few Fukienese collections of ancient stone and bronze inscriptions known to me. Some can be traced in complete or excerpted form in the municipal or county gazetteers of the area from which they come. A few texts have also been published in modern collections and one or two have even been translated into English and been commented upon not accidentally the latter concern religion and overseas voyages traditional subjects of European interest. Ninety percent of these texts however have never been collected or quoted before. Lin Renchuan hopes to publish them in Chinese in the near future. Only eight such collections of original texts without translations or commentary with materials drawn from Kiangsu Soochow Peking Shanghai Yunnan Canton Kwangsi and Taiwan have been published since 1949. China Review International, 2002. Ming China Craig Clunas, Jessica Harrison-Hall, Yu Ping Luk, 2016. His illustrated publication is the outcome of the conference Ming Courts and Contacts 1400-1450 held October 9-October 11, 2014 and that accompanied the British Museum's major exhibition Ming 50 years that changed China September 2014-January 2015. The scope of the exhibition and conference focused on Ming dynasty China in the years 1400 to 1450. The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 1993. 中国, 2001. 1971-2006 中国, 2007. 24.
