Chinese Foreign Policy Pragmatism And Strategic Behavior:

Chinese Foreign Policy Suisheng Zhao, 2004 China's post Mao leadership has been increasingly sensitive to China's position in the changing global environment. This book examines China's strategic place on the world stage particularly in its relationships with major powers and Asian neighbours and highlights the security implications of China's emerging role in the global system.

Identity, Culture, and Chinese Foreign Policy Kangkyu Lee, 2020-11-29 This book assesses the role of identity and Chinese face culture in Chinese foreign policy by analyzing China's political and economic retaliation against South Korea's deployment of the THAAD Terminal High Altitude Area Defense system on its soil. By examining the history and military action of China, Japan and North and South Korea, the book argues that China's divergent responses were caused by different expectations according to whether states had a perceived identity as a friend or a rival. The author demonstrates that Chinese face culture shapes China's reaction to others through three dynamics of seeking saving and losing face. This book shows how identity and culture have worked in the relationship between China and neighboring countries through three case studies exploring North Korea's Taepodong 2 missile launch and first nuclear test in 2006, South Korea's decision to allow the United States to deploy the THAAD around 2016 and Japan's decision to deploy two U.S. X-band radars in 2005 and 2014. A timely analysis of the importance of identity and culture in international relations, the book will be of interest to scholars of Chinese foreign policy, Sino-South Korean relations, Sino-North Korean relations, Sino-Japanese relations, Korean Politics, Asian Politics and International Relations.

New Dimensions of Chinese Foreign Policy Sujian Guo, Shiping Hua, 2007-07-19 New Dimensions of Chinese Foreign Policy is an in-depth analysis of China's new place in international affairs. Taking Hu Jintao's proposal for peaceful development as a starting point, the contributors in this volume examine the new trends of thought in the fourth generation of Chinese policymakers. Special emphasis is placed on US-China relations. Editors Sujian Guo and Shiping Hua have assembled a list of contributors, many of which are Chinese or Chinese American scholars, with thorough knowledge of changes in Chinese foreign policy and their implications for the world. The essays contained in this volume cover a comprehensive breadth of topics including China's changing ideology in foreign policy, Chinese elite perspectives on the rise of China, the political orientations of the emerging elite, social dimensions of China's power status, soft power management approaches to the North Korean nuclear issues, Middle East foreign policy, entry into World Trade Organization and foreign trade policy, changing attitudes toward international regimes and the implications of China-US interdependence. The insightful contributions of New Dimensions of Chinese Foreign Policy is essential reading for any student or researcher of contemporary Chinese politics.

China and the New International Order Wang Gungwu, Zheng Yongnian, 2008-01-30 This book explores China's place in the new international order from both the international perspective and from the perspective within China. It discusses how far the new international order as outlined by George Bush in 1991 after the collapse of the Soviet Union and the liberation of Kuwait in the Gulf War with its notions of international order as viewed by the United States and with the United States seeing itself as the single dominant power applies to China. The contributors offer the implications both positive and negative of China's growing economic power and the possibility that China will increase its military power. They also examine the idea that the Chinese leadership is being carried along itself by events in China which it does not fully control and that other growing forces within China such as nationalism, increasing social grievances, structural instability and rivalry between the centre and the regions potentially work against China's growing strength in the international arena. Considering traditional Chinese notions of international power where the world is seen as sino-centric with neighbouring countries subservient to China in varying degrees, the book argues that this represents a fundamentally different view of the international order, one where the equal sovereignty of every state does not apply, where there is an acknowledged hierarchy of power and where domestic and international issues are highly interdependent.

China's Strategic Priorities Jonathan H. Ping, Brett McCormick, 2015-12-14. The People's Republic of China is the world's most populous state and largest consumer of energy, having demonstrated momentous progress on an unprecedented scale. This global power has increasingly shaped international relations as a result of its population size, economic development and political character. Identifying the most significant new issues and problems that have arisen from China's rapid development, this book examines the evolution of China's contemporary foreign policy and international relations. In doing so, it underlines the global importance of China's management of its own politics and economics and demonstrates how all nation states have a vested interest in and to varying degrees are liable for the consequences of Chinese actions. The book aims to spark debate by drawing attention to these critical issues, placing them on the scholarly agenda as well as that of the practitioner. It provides factual evidence, progressive findings, justification and a rationale for action, expert analysis and the resulting policy prescriptions. In addition, the book highlights the liable costs of failing to address China's strategic priorities. This interdisciplinary book draws attention to the most pressing issues that China must address for universal benefit and will be of great interest to students and scholars of International Relations, Chinese Studies and Political Science.
