Nothing of great importance is known about F hien in addition to what may be gathered from his own record of his travels I have read the accounts of him in the Memoirs of Eminent Monks compiled in A D 519 and a later work the Memoirs of Marvellous Monks by the third emperor of the Ming dynasty A D 1403 1424 which however is nearly all borrowed from the other and all in them that has an appearance of verisimilitude can be brought within brief compass His surname they tell us was Kung and he was a native of Wu yang in P ing Yang which is still the name of a large department in Shan hsi He had three brothers older than himself but when they all died before shedding their first teeth his father devoted him to the service of the Buddhist society and had him entered as a r ma era still keeping him at home in the family The little fellow fell dangerously ill and the father sent him to the monastery where he soon got well and refused to return to his parents When he was ten years old his father died and an uncle considering the widowed solitariness and helplessness of the mother urged him to renounce the monastic life and return to her but the boy replied I did not quit the family in compliance with my father s wishes but because I wished to be far from the dust and vulgar ways of life This is why I chose monkhood The uncle approved of his words and gave over urging him When his mother also died it appeared how great had been the affection for her of his fine nature but after her burial he returned to the monastery On one occasion he was cutting rice with a score or two of his fellow disciples when some hungry thieves came upon them to take away their grain by force The other r ma eras all fled but our young hero stood his ground and said to the thieves If you must have the grain take what you please But Sirs it was your former neglect of charity which brought you to your present state of destitution and now again you wish to rob others I am afraid that in the coming ages you will have still greater poverty and distress I am sorry for you beforehand With these words he followed his companions into the monastery while the thieves left the grain and went away all the monks of whom there were several hundred doing homage to his conduct and courage When he had finished his novitiate and taken on him the obligations of the full Buddhist orders his earnest courage clear intelligence and strict regulation of his demeanour were conspicuous and soon after he undertook his journey to India in search of complete copies of the Vinaya pi aka What follows this is merely an account of his travels in India and return to China by sea condensed from his own narrative with the addition of some marvellous incidents that happened to him on his visit to the Vulture Peak near R jag iha It is said in the end that after his return to China he went to the capital evidently Nanking and there along with the Indian rama a Buddha bhadra executed translations of some of the works which he had obtained in India and that before he had done all that he wished to do in this way he removed to King
