Choosing The Right Formula Initial Report:

Statistical Issues in Allocating Funds by Formula National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Committee on National Statistics, Panel on Formula Allocations, 2003-02-24 In 2000 the federal government distributed over 260 billion of funding to state and local governments via 180 formula programs These programs promote a wide spectrum of economic and social objectives such as improving educational outcomes and increasing accessibility to medical care and many are designed to compensate for differences in fiscal capacity that affect governments abilities to address identified needs Large amounts of state revenues are also distributed through formula allocation programs to counties cities and other jurisdictions Statistical Issues in Allocating Funds by Formula identifies key issues concerning the design and use of these formulas and advances recommendations for improving the process In addition to the more narrow issues relating to formula design and input data the book discusses broader issues created by the interaction of the political process and the use of formulas to allocate funds Statistical Issues in Allocating Funds by Formula is only up to date guide for policymakers who design fund allocation programs Congress members who are crafting legislation for these programs and federal employees who are in charge of distributing the funds will find this book indispensable Measuring What Matters Institute of Medicine, Board on Health Promotion and Disease Prevention, Committee on the Ryan White CARE Act: Data for Resource Allocation, Planning, and Evaluation, 2004-06-09 The Ryan White Comprehensive AIDS Resources Emergency CARE Act gives funding to cities states and other public and private entities to provide care and support services to individuals with HIV and AIDS who have low incomes and little or no insurance The CARE Act is a discretionary program that relies on annual appropriations from Congress to provide care for low income uninsured or underinsured individuals who have no other resources to pay for care Despite its successes funding has been insufficient to address all of the inequalities and gaps in coverage for people with HIV In response to a congressional mandate an Institute of Medicine committee was formed to reevaluate whether CARE allocation strategies are an equitable and efficient way of distributing resources to jurisdictions with the greatest needs and to assess whether quality of care can be refined and expanded Measuring What Matters Allocation Planning and Quality Assessment for the Ryan White CARE Act proposes several types of analyses that could be used to guide the evaluation and improvement of allocation formulas as well as a framework for assessing quality of care provided to HIV infected persons First and Second Reports from the Select Committee of Public Accounts Together with the Proceedings of the Committee, Minutes of Evidence, Appendices and Index ... Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Select Committee of Public Accounts, 1927 Choosing the Right Formula National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Committee on National Statistics, Panel on Formula Allocations, 2001-09-07 The workshop was a direct outgrowth of a previous study by the CNSTAT Panel on Estimates of Poverty for Small Geographic Areas That panel established under a 1994 act of Congress began its work with a very specific mission to evaluate the suitability of the U S Census Bureau s small area estimates of poor school age children for use in the allocation of funds to counties and school districts under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act In carrying out their assignment panel members came to realize that the properties of data sources and statistical procedures used to produce formula estimates interacting with formula features such as thresholds and hold harmless provisions can produce consequences that may not have been anticipated or intended It also became evident that there is a trade off between the goals of providing a reasonable amount of stability in funding from one year to the next and redirecting funds to different jurisdictions as true needs change In one instance for example the annual appropriation included a 100 percent hold harmless provision ensuring that no recipient would receive less than the year before However there was no increase in the total appropriation with the result that new estimates showing changes in the distribution of program needs across areas had no effect on the allocations Choosing the Right Formula provides an account of the presentations and discussions at the workshop The first three chapters cover the overview case studies and methodological sessions respectively Chapter 4 summarizes the issues discussed in the roundtable and concluding sessions with emphasis on the identification of questions that might be addressed in a panel study
