Chinese Marxism:

Marxism in the Chinese Revolution Arif Dirlik, 2005 Representing a lifetime of research and writing by noted historian Arif Dirlik the essays collected here explore developments in Chinese socialism and the issues that have occupied historians of the Chinese revolution for the past three decades Dirlik engages Chinese socialism critically but with sympathy for the aspirations of revolutionaries who found the hope of social political and cultural liberation in Communist alternatives to capitalism and the intellectual inspiration to realize their hopes in Marxist theory The book's historical approach to Marxist theory emphasizes its global relevance while avoiding dogmatic and Eurocentric limitations These incisive essays range from the origins of socialism in the early twentieth century through the victory of the Communists in mid century to the virtual abandonment by century's end of any pretense to a socialist revolutionary project by the leadership of the Chinese Communist Party All that remains of the revolution in historical hindsight are memories of its failures and misdeeds but Dirlik retains a critical perspective not just toward the past but also toward the ideological hegemonies of the present Taken together his writings reaffirm the centrality of the revolution to modern Chinese history They also illuminate the fundamental importance of Marxism to grasping the flaws of capitalist modernity despite the fact that in the end the socialist response was unable to transcend the social and ideological horizons of capitalism

Chinese Marxism Adrian Chan, 2003-06-29 This groundbreaking study of Chinese Marxism examines the ideology and praxis of Marxism as it has developed in China from its earliest beginnings to current debates This is the first systematic full length analysis of the development and nature of Marxist ideology in China Adrian Chan challenges established scholarship in both the West and China which continues to be overshadowed by Cold War dogma and party orthodoxy respectively It has long been argued that Chinese Marxism was merely an offshoot of Soviet thought blended with ill defined traditional Chinese ideas Using previously neglected Chinese sources including newspapers political journals and communist party documents Chan refutes this Showing how the first Chinese revolutionaries were directly influenced by the writings of Marx Chinese Marxism argues that Bolshevism was a secondary influence on Chinese communist thought Mao himself drew upon Marxian themes in the creation of party orthodoxy In doing so he signalled his differences from Lenin and Stalin on important issues of theory and practice However not all party leaders accepted this Marxian praxis This has led to continuous conflict between proponents of Maoist Marxism and Soviet type scientific Marxism Leninism Chinese Marxism presents detailed studies of the Great Leap Forward and the Cultural Revolution to illustrate the consequences of this ongoing ideological conflict and brings the story up to the present day with an analysis of the current Thermidorean Reaction and the controversial embracing of Confucianism

Marxist Philosophy in China : From Qu Qiubai to Mao Zedong, 1923-1945

Nick Knight,2006-01-01 This book recounts the history of Marxist philosophy in China between 1923 and 1945 through the writings and activities of four philosophers Qu Qiubai Ai Siqi Li Da and Mao Zedong Two of these philosophers Qu and Mao were also political activists and leaders but their contribution to this history is as important if not more so than the contribution of Ai and Li who were predominantly philosophers and scholars The inclusion of Qu and Mao underlines the intimate connection between philosophy and politics in the revolutionary movement in China It is not possible to speak credibly of Marxist philosophy in China without considering the political context within which its introduction elaboration and dissemination proceeded. Indeed each of the philosophers considered in this book repudiated the notion that the study of philosophy was a scholastic intellectual exercise devoid of political significance. Each of these philosophers regarded himself as a revolutionary and considered philosophy to be useful precisely because it could facilitate a comprehension of the world and so accelerate efforts to change it. By the same token each of these philosophers took philosophy seriously; each bent his mind to the daunting task of mastering the arcane and labyrinthian philosophical system of dialectical materialism. Philosophy might well be political, they believed, but this was no excuse for philosophical dilettantism.

How to Localize Marxism in China Guo Jianning, 2022-12-30 This book explores frontier issues concerning the localization of Marxism in China by examining historical processes, cultural implications and contemporary perspectives on this process of indigenization. Emerging in the 1840s in Germany, Marxism has evolved from a German-European and Western idea into a Chinese-Asian and Eastern one. This title seeks to answer the question of how Marxism has been adapted to the Chinese context and how it migrated to the regions. The first three chapters chart the history of the dissemination of Marxism to adapt to Chinese conditions across three periods: revolutionary times before 1949, the period of socialist construction after 1949, and the reform and opening up since 1978. The subsequent two chapters analyze the experience of the development of socialism with Chinese characteristics, featuring synergistic integration with traditional Chinese culture and the combining of the basic principles of Marxism and China's real-life situation. The final chapter advances suggestions on how to further promote the localization of Marxism and how to develop contemporary Chinese Marxism faced with new historical conditions. The book will appeal to scholars, students and general readers interested in contemporary Marxism.

Marxism in China and contemporary Chinese history, politics and society Contemporary Chinese Marxism Chengbing Wang, 2023-08-22 This book provides a comprehensive and in-depth survey of the foundational research orientations of contemporary Chinese Marxism. The chapters in this book not only attach importance to the exploration of classic Marxist texts but also explore the challenges posed on classic Marxist texts by modernity and, in doing so, highlight the relationship between Marxism and the traditional Chinese culture. As a school of thought, Marxism has exerted tremendous influence on fields of humanities and social sciences over the course of its introduction, dissemination and development. Through this volume, well-established Chinese scholars from Mainland China also discuss contemporary Chinese Marxism in an interdisciplinary context. Further, this volume facilitates dialogues, exchanges and collisions of ideas between researchers of contemporary Chinese Marxism on one side and the researchers of Western Marxism on the other. This book will be a great resource for academics, researchers and advanced students of Marxism, philosophy and sociology. The chapters in this book were originally published in the journal Educational Philosophy and Theory.
