Chinese Novel:

Chinese Fiction of the Nineteenth and Early Twentieth Centuries Patrick Hanan, 2004 It has often been said that the nineteenth century was a relatively stagnant period for Chinese fiction but preeminent scholar Patrick Hanan shows that the opposite is true the finest novels of the nineteenth century show a constant experimentation and evolution In this collection of detailed and insightful essays Hanan examines Chinese fiction before and during the period in which Chinese writers first came into contact with western fiction Hanan explores the uses made of fiction by westerners in China the adaptation and integration of western methods in Chinese fiction and the continued vitality of the Chinese fictional tradition Some western missionaries for example wrote religious novels in Chinese almost always with the aid of native assistants who tended to change aspects of the work to fit Chinese taste Later such works as Washington Irving's Rip Van Winkle Jonathan Swift's A Voyage to Lilliput the novels of Jules Verne and French detective stories were translated into Chinese These interventions and their effects are explored here for virtually the first time Traditional Chinese Fiction in the English-Speaking World Junjie Luo, 2022-08-16 This book develops interdisciplinary and comparative approaches to analyzing the cross cultural travels of traditional Chinese fiction It ties this genre to issues such as translation world literature digital humanities book culture and images of China Each chapter offers a case study of the historical and cultural conditions under which traditional Chinese fiction has traveled to the English speaking world proposing a critical lens that can be used to explain these cross cultural encounters The book seeks to identify connections between traditional Chinese fiction and other cultures that create new meanings and add to the significance of reading teaching and studying these classical novels and stories in the English speaking world Scholars students and general readers who are interested in traditional Chinese fiction translation studies and comparative and world literature will find this book useful The Chinese Novel at the Turn of the Century Milena Doleželová-Velingerová, 1980 The book consists of nine studies which analyse the late Qing novel in its general and specific aspects The introduction and first essay explain how social changes conditioned cultural and literary changes during the period and how the resultant new theory of fiction generated new concepts of a politically engaged novel The two following studies develop a general statement of narrative structures and devices derived from structural analyses of seven outstanding late Qing novels The last six articles examine particular novels in detail focusing on the specific fictional techniques which predominate in each Encyclopedia of the Novel Paul Schellinger, 2014-04-08 The Encyclopedia of the Novel is the first reference book that focuses on the development of the novel throughout the world Entries on individual writers assess the place of that writer within the development of the novel form explaining why and in exactly what ways that writer is important Similarly an entry on an individual novel discusses the importance of that novel not only from analyzing the particular innovations that novel has introduced and the ways in which it has influenced the subsequent course of the genre A wide range of topic entries explore the history criticism theory production dissemination and reception of the novel A
