Dialogues of Philosophies, Religions and Civilizations in the Era of Globalization Zhao Dunhua, 2007 Michael Slote Encountering Chinese Philosophy Yong Huang, 2020-10-15 Michael Slote is one of the most prominent philosophers working in the discipline today By creating a two way dialogue between philosophers specializing in Chinese philosophy and a central thinker from the Anglo American tradition this volume brings cross cultural philosophy to life From his early contributions in ethics metaethics philosophy of mind moral psychology and epistemology to his recent investigations into the relationship between Western philosophy and Chinese philosophy an international team of scholars of Chinese philosophy cover Slote s sentimentalism his understanding of Chinese concepts Yin and Yang and explores the role Early Confucianism and Neo Confucianism can play in his work Each chapter extends Slote s ideas by considering them from a Chinese philosophical perspective and Slote is given the opportunity to respond to each of the contributors interpretation of his work Applied to Classical works such as the Zhuangzi and the Yijing his ground breaking thoughts on morality care ethics and empathy are taken in new exciting directions

Secret Subversion I Tang Wenming, 2020-08-03 Mou Zongsan 1909 1995 one of the representatives of Modern Confucianism belongs to the most important Chinese philosophers of the twentieth century From a more traditional Confucian perspective this book makes a critical analysis on Mou s moral metaphysics mainly his thoughts about Confucian ethos The author observes that Mou simplifies Confucian ethos rooted in various and specific environments making them equal to modern ethics which is a subversion of the ethical order of life advocated by traditional Confucianism The author believes also that Mou has twisted Confucian ethos systematically by introducing Kant s concept of autonomy into the interpretation of Confucian thoughts Scholars and students in Chinese philosophy especially those in Confucian studies will be attracted by this book Also it will appeal to readers interested in comparative philosophy

Plantingian Religious Epistemology and World Religions Erik Baldwin, Tyler Dalton McNabb, 2018-11-29 To what extent can non Christian religious traditions utilize Plantinga s epistemology And if there are believers from differing religious traditions that can rightfully utilize Plantinga s religious epistemology does this somehow prevent a Plantingian s creedal specific religious belief from being warranted In order to answer these questions Baldwin and McNabb first provide an introduction to Plantinga s religious epistemology Second they explore the prospects and problems that members of non Christian religions face when they attempt to utilize Plantingian religious epistemology Finally they sketch out possible approaches to holding that a

Plantingian's creedal specific religious belief can be warranted even given believers from other religious traditions who can also rightfully make full use of Plantinga's religious epistemology One Corner of the Square Ian M. Sullivan, Joshua Mason, 2021-03-31 In a historical moment when cross cultural communication proves both necessary and difficult the work of comparative philosophy is timely Philosophical resources for building a shared future marked by vitality and collaborative meaning making are in high demand Taking note of the present global philosophical situation this collection of essays critically engages the scholarship of Roger T Ames who for decades has had a central role in the evolution of comparative and nonwestern philosophy With a reflective methodology that has produced creative translations of key Chinese philosophical texts Ames in conjunction with notable collaborators such as D C Lau David Hall and Henry Rosemont Jr has brought China's philosophical traditions into constructive cross cultural dialogue on numerous ethical and social issues that we face today The volume opens with two parts that share overlapping concerns about interpretation and translation of nonwestern texts and traditions Parts III and IV Process Cosmology and Epistemological Considerations mark the shift in comparative projects from the metaphilosophical and translational stage to the more traditionally philosophical stage Parts V and VI Confucian Role Ethics and Classical Daoism might best be read as Chinese contributions to philosophical inquiry into living well or ethics broadly construed Lastly Part VII takes Amesian comparative philosophy in Critical Social and Political Directions explicitly drawing out the broader dimensions of social constitution and the ideal of harmony The contributors scholars working in philosophy religious studies and Asian studies pursue lines of inquiry opened up by the work of Roger Ames and their chapters both clarify his ideas and push them in new directions They survey the field of Chinese philosophy as it is taking shape in the wake of Ames's contributions and as it carries forward a global conversation on the future of humanity The Globalization of Confucius and Confucianism Klaus Mühlhahn, Nathalie van Looy, 2012 The popularity of Confucianism is on the rise not only in China but also internationally Confucian values are praised as the universal way especially in the face of current political social and economic crises The philosopher's legacy has now endured for over 2 500 years and Confucian ideas have gained recognition as an Eastern alternative to Western concepts This return to China's very own tradition and values can be seen as symbolizing China's new self confidence This volume focuses on the resurgence of Confucianism in order to examine the role played by Confucian ideas in the present and the past as well as the potential future form of a new Confucian culture The articles range from the perception of Confucianism in Europe at the time of the Enlightenment to Neo Confucian debates and approaches Series Chinese History and Society Berliner China Hefte Vol 41

Confucianism, Buddhism, Daoism, Christianity and Chinese Culture Yijie Tang, 2015-02-06 This book collects the 25 most important articles written by Professor Tang since the 1980s dealing extensively with issues of Confucianism Buddhism Daoism Christianity and Chinese culture In these articles Professor Tang proves his value as a worthy successor to the Chinese philosophical tradition while also open to the latest trends of thought both at home and abroad The late

Professor Tang Yijie 1927-2014 was a prominent professor at Peking University and China's top scholar on philosophy and Chinese studies. He spearheaded the Confucian Canon project which seeks to compile all known classical works on Confucianism comparable in scope and significance to the Complete Library in Four Sections, the largest collection of books on Chinese history which was commissioned by the Qianlong Emperor in the 18th century. Throughout his life Professor Tang published scores of books and more than one hundred articles offering enlightening insights into how to deal with issues that have historically troubled and continue to trouble people in modern society. Among his numerous innovations Professor Tang is especially remembered for introducing the concept of harmony in diversity. In the context of the clash of civilizations championed by Samuel P. Huntington, Tang argued for harmony in diversity, holding that this principle can offer some clues to help enable peoples, nations and regions with different cultural traditions to develop together while remaining unique. Challenges of Globalization and Prospects for an Inter-civilizational World Order Ino Rossi, 2020-11-24. This is a must-read volume on globalization in which some of the foremost scholars in the field discuss the latest issues. Truly providing a global perspective, it includes authorship and discussions from the Global North and South and covers the major facets of globalization: cultural, economic, ecological and political. It discusses the historical developments in governance preceding globalization, the diverse theoretical and methodological approaches to globalization and analyzes underdevelopment, anti-globalization movements, global poverty, global inequality and the debates on international trade versus protectionism. Finally, the volume looks to the future and provides prospects for inter-civilizational understanding, rapprochement and global cooperation. This will be of great interest to academics and students of sociology, social anthropology, political science and international relations, economics, social policy, social history as well as to policy makers.

Religion and the Environment: Ectheology II: Islma, Asian traditions and indigenous traditions Roger S. Gottlieb, 2010. In the last two decades a new form of religiously motivated social action and a virtually new field of academic study each based in recognition of the connections between religion and humanity's treatment of the environment have developed. Interactions between religion and environmental concern have been manifest in the explosive growth of ecotheological writings, institutional commitment by organized religions and environmental activism explicitly oriented to religious ideals. Clergy throughout the world in virtually every denomination have received word from leaders of their religion that the environment no less than sexuality, poverty or war and peace is now a basic and compelling religious matter. Out of this confrontation have been born vital new theologies based in the recovery of marginalized elements of tradition, profound criticisms of the past and ecologically oriented visions of God, the Sacred, the Earth and human beings. Theologians from every religious tradition along with dozens of non-denominational spiritual writers have confronted world religions past attitudes towards nature In the realm of institutional commitment public statements and actions by organized religions have grown dramatically In the context of political action throughout the U S and the world religiously oriented groups take part in environmentally oriented political action from lobbying and consciousness raising to activist demonstrations and civil disobedience This collection serves as a comprehensive introduction overview and in depth account of these exciting new developments The four volumes cover virtually every aspect of the field from theological change and institutional commitment to innovation in liturgy from new ecumenical connections among different religions and between religion science and environmental movements from religious participation in environmental politics to an account of the global social and political contexts in which religious environmentalism has unfolded

The Philosophical Review Jacob Gould Schurman, James Edwin Creighton, Frank Thilly, Gustavus Watts Cunningham, 2004 Modernization, Globalization, and Confucianism in Chinese Societies Joseph B. Tamney, Linda Hsueh-Ling Chiang, 2002-01-30 Confucianism has influenced Chinese societies for more than 2 000 years and such influence is likely to continue in the future However during the preceding centuries the nature of what was understood to be Confucianism has changed and this process will also continue Today the scholarly tradition is adapting both to the modernization of Chinese societies mainland China Singapore and Taiwan and to the emergence of global society Tamney and Chiang focus on current social changes their implications for the Chinese scholarly tradition and the responses of Confucianists to these changes Special topics include the response of Confucian scholars to the democracy movement how politicians are using Confucian beliefs and values the role of the scholarly tradition in contemporary Chinese popular culture the challenges to Confucianism resulting from the changing role of women and how competition with world religions is affecting the scholarly tradition Throughout the book two themes are explored the division of Confucianism into traditionalist and modernist forms and the nature of ideological convergence in the contemporary world Scholars students and researchers interested in the ways Confucianism is becoming more similar to Western beliefs and values and in the ways Confucianism is likely to remain distinctive will find the volume invaluable

Bibliographie de la philosophie International Institute of Philosophy, 2004 Yinyang Robin Wang, 2012-09-24 The concept of yinyang lies at the heart of Chinese thought and culture This book explores the relationship between these two opposing forces Levinas, (Book Supplement Series to the Journal of Chinese Philosophy) Nicholas Bunnin, Dachun Yang, Linyu Gu, 2009-01-27 Leading Chinese and Western philosophers work alongside one another to explore the writings of one of the twentieth century s most perplexing and original ethical and metaphysical thinkers For Chinese philosophers there are special reasons to pursue an interest in L vinas centering on his regard for ethics rather than Husserlian epistemology or Heideggerian ontology as first philosophy a perspective that can be compared to the priority of a moral metaphysics for major figures in contemporary Neo Confucianism The thirteen outstanding contributors explain and assess other crucial features of L vinas s philosophy with clarity elegance and powerful insight

Chinese Culture, Western Culture Tai

Ng,2007-02 This book explores how complementary Chinese and Western cultures are how they should learn from each other to establish a dynamic balance and how institutions need constant redefinition and renewal in order to prosper By studying the history and development of thought and philosophy in these cultures it suggests lessons from our past that may shed light on current events and help us in handling future challenges The book presents answers to the following important questions Do Chinese people think differently from Westerners and if so how and why What are the key differences between Chinese and Western culture and why How did China become the most technologically advanced and sociologically sophisticated nation in the world until the seventeenth century and why did it ultimately decline What are the key characteristics of political institutions in historical China and Europe and how were they significant In this postmodern time and era of globalization what can we learn from Chinese culture and experiences As China rapidly industrializes what can it learn from the West without repeating some of the mistakes that Europeans and North Americans made in their periods of industrialization
