Clemens Wendtner

Christ The Tiger:

Christ the Tiger Thomas Howard, 2004-09-14 This book is a reprint with revisions of one of Thomas Howard's earliest and most popular books. It is somewhat autobiographical, revealing the thoughts of a young man who has been seized by the love of Christ and at first sees dogmas and institutions as obscuring the terrible truth of God's love in Christ. But even at that earlier period Howard showed his awareness that without those institutions there would be no way of encountering Christ the tiger. Howard is able to bring out the true vitality of what this faith is and should be, the radical nature of the Christian faith. This book powerfully presents who Christ is and what faith in him means from Christ the Tiger. In the figure of Jesus we saw Immanuel, that is God that is Love. It was a figure who appearing so inauspiciously among us broke up our secularist and our religious categories and beckoned us and judged us and damned us and saved us and exhibited to us a kind of life that participates in the indestructible. And it was a figure who announced the validity of our eternal effort to discover significance and beauty beyond inanition and horror by announcing to us the unthinkable redemption. Christ the Tiger Thomas Howard, 1967

Christ The Tiger Hyam Maccoby, 2025-09-19 The average churchgoer writes Hyam Maccoby would be most disconcerted by a real glimpse into Eliot's mind. There is a savagery in that mind. Eliot aspired towards classicism and adopted the persona of the prim and pedantic Mr. Eliot. But this book argues that in his greatest poetry Eliot was essentially a Romantic whose Christian vision was based on pagan rituals of human sacrifice. Maccoby positions Eliot's antisemitism within his artistic philosophy. The book is intended for the general reader who responds emotionally to Eliot's complex poetry and would like to gain an intellectual understanding of it. These essays contain a trenchant critique of Christianity by a controversial Jewish historian and theologian but one who had a deep knowledge and understanding of and respect for Christianity just as he had the greatest admiration for Eliot's poetry with its powerful evocation of the boredom and the horror and the glory. His, 1968 Eliot's Animals Marianne Thormählen, 1984 The Bamboo Bed William Eastlake, 2001 The plot revolves around Captain Clancy who mortally wounded while leading a charge up Ridge Red Boy lies dying in a bamboo bed. Proceedings, 1993 Thematic Continuity in the Fiction, Criticism and Essays of Katherine Anne Porter Alan Michael Hausman, 1960 T.S. Eliot's Bleistein Poems Patricia Sloane, 2000 Deals with the issue of Eliot's treatment of the figure of the Jew in his poems. Uncovers hitherto unrecognized sources in the contemporary history from which the poems emerged and highlights Eliot's concern with Dante's poetry, emphasizing the need to remember the metaphysical Eliot. Contends that the poems Burbank with a Baedecker, Bleistein with a Cigar, Mr. Eliot's Sunday Morning Service, The Hippopotamus, The Waste Land and The Hollow Men form an organic sequence and provide an absurdist improvisation on Dante's Commedia.
