Christ Without Absolutes A Study Of The Christology Of Ernst Troeltsch:

Christ Without Absolutes Sarah Coakley,1988 Can Christians continue to worship Jesus Christ as the full final and absolute revelation of God in an age of historical relativism an expanding universe and the impinging of other world faiths on Western culture This bold and penetrating study goes to the heart of the debate between traditionalists and liberals such as Ernst Troeltsch who would answer no Coakley argues that a liberal approach to Christology in fact opens up many new and liberating possibilities for the future of Christianity

The Historical Jesus Question Gregory W. Dawes,2001-01-01 A natural sequel to The Historical Jesus Quest this book provides commentary on the work and significance of the classic writers presented in that volume Spinoza Strauss Sweitzer Troeltsch Bultmann Kasemann and others

Nineteenth-Century Religious Thought in the West: Volume 3 Ninian Smart,John Clayton,Patrick Sherry,Steven T. Katz,1988-07-01 The successful three volumes of Nineteenth Century Religious Thought in the West provide a fresh appraisal of the most important thinkers of that time Soames essays centre on major figures of the period others cover topics trends and schools of thought between the French Revolution and the First World War

Jesus and the Church Paul Avis,2020-11-26 What is church s true foundation Was the Christian church founded by Jesus or does the Eucharist make the church Paul Avis sets out his own answer to these questions Gathering a wide range of critical scholarship he argues that there is something solid and dependable at the foundation of the church s life and mission Avis argues that Jesus wanted a church in a sense but not as we know it Christ proclaimed the gospel of the Kingdom and his disciples proclaimed the gospel whose content was Jesus himself the Kingdom in person The church is battered and divided but at its core is a treasure that is indestructible the gospel of Christ embodied in word and sacrament A central theme of the book is the relationship between the church and Christ the church and the gospel the church and the Kingdom Jesus Christ crucified and risen is the sole foundation of the church but he cannot be without his people

Modern Christian Thought: The twentieth century James C. Livingston,Francis Schüssler Fiorenza, This widely acclaimed introduction to modern Christian thought formerly published by Prentice Hall provides full scholarly accounts of the major movements and thinkers theologians and philosophers in the Christian tradition since the eighteenth century Enlightenment together with solid historical background and critical assessments This second edition deals with the entire modern period in both Europe and America and is the first to include extensive treatment of modern Catholic thinkers Evangelical thought and Black and Womanist theology

Lord Jesus Christ Daniel Treier,2023-10-31 A study of the doctrine of Christ that is biblical and historical evangelical and ecumenical conceptually clear and contextually relevant Lord Jesus Christ expounds the doctrine of Christ by focusing upon theological interpretation of Scripture regarding Jesus s identity The book s structure traces a Christological arc from the eternal communion of the Triune God through creation covenants Incarnation passion and exaltation all the way to the consummation of redemptive history This arc identifies Jesus as the divine Lord who assumed human flesh for our salvation

The book expounds and defends a classically Reformed Christology in relation to contemporary contexts and challenges engaging both philosophical and global concerns Each chapter begins with the theological interpretation of a key Scripture text before expounding key concepts of orthodox Protestant Christology Lord Jesus Christ is a unique example of writing dogmatic theology by way of theological exegesis The result is a volume that engages the numerous scholarly volumes on Christology that have appeared within the last couple of decades but provides a contemporary account of a traditional view About the Series New Studies in Dogmatics seeks to retrieve the riches of Christian doctrine for the sake of contemporary theological renewal Following in the tradition of G C Berkouwer s Studies in Dogmatics this series will provide thoughtful concise and readable treatments of major theological topics expressing the biblical creedal and confessional shape of Christian doctrine for a contemporary evangelical audience The editors and contributors share a common conviction that the way forward in constructive systematic theology lies in building upon the foundations laid in the church s historic understanding of the Word of God as professed in its creeds councils and confessions and by its most trusted teachers

Heavenly Bodies Ola Sigurdson, 2016-07-30 Deep and wide study of 2 000 years of Christian thought on the human body Does Christianity scorn our bodies Friedrich Nietzsche thought so and many others since him have thought the same Ola Sigurdson contends to the contrary that Christianity understood properly in fact affirms human embodiment Presenting his constructive contributions to theology in relation to both historical and contemporary conceptions of the body Sigurdson begins by investigating the anthropological implications of the doctrine of the incarnation He then delves into the concept of the gaze and discusses a specifically Christian gaze of faith that focuses on God embodied in Jesus Finally he weaves these strands into a contemporary Christian theology of embodiment Sigurdson s profound engagement with the whole history of Christian life and thought not only elucidates the spectrum of Christian perspectives on the body but also models a way of thinking historically and systematically that other theologians will find stimulating and challenging Ernst Troeltsch Hans-Georg Drescher, 1992 Ernst Troeltsch who was born in 1865 and died suddenly and prematurely in 1923 on the eve of a visit to Britain is undoubtedly one of the most important theologians and philosophers of the twentieth century Having suffered a loss of prestige with the eclipse of liberal theology after his death and the predominance of Karl Barth in a world overshadowed by Nazi Germany and the Second World War he has now come into his own again so that this first full length biography is particularly welcome Hans Georg Drescher traces Troeltsch s life from his birth in Augsburg distinguished university career and meteoric rise to be professor of theology in Bonn through his twenty year activity as professor of theology in Heidelberg to his final change of faculty and appointment as professor of philosophy in Berlin In connection with each major period of Troeltsch s life he analyses Troeltsch s major theological and philosophical work much of which has never been translated and the impact of his study is heightened by a series of contemporary photographs Here then is a vivid picture not only of the thinker who was virtually the first to tackle on a broad front the many problems for religious belief and practice raised by the rise of the modern historical consciousness and the relativity that goes with it but also of German university life in all its facets before during and immediately after the First World War Hans Georg Drescher is Professor of Protestant Theology in the University of Dortmund

The Making of Modern German Christology, 1750-1990 Alister E. McGrath, 1994 Germany and northern Switzerland have been the source of a fertile theological tradition since the beginning of the Protestant Reformation in the 16th century Moreover the Enlightenment seems to have had its deepest theological impact in Germany and on one area of theology in particular the person and the work of Christ

Pluralism Without Relativism Joseph C. McLelland, 2008 The current debate on religious pluralism pits exclusivism against inclusivism with pluralism an uncertain alternative The thesis of this book is that a new theory is required to relate world religions positively without reducing them to a lowest common denominator Thus the question what is comparable needs to be re examined While a theory of everything is not possible for religious data a modal approach allows each religion its own integrity The traditional Christian claim of uniqueness is balanced by more open resources from within the tradition itself such as Logos Christology This has potential cosmic or properly universal as distinct from global presence Dogma is examined through scientific and aesthetic models resulting in a more open approach to world religions Each may be regarded as a mode of being related to transcendence in non adversarial terms Joseph C McLelland is J W McConnell Professor of Philosophy of Religion Emeritus at McGill University and Robert Professor of History and Philosophy of Religion Emeritus at The Presbyterian College Montreal From 1975 to 1985 he also served as Dean of the Faculty of Religious Studies at McGill University He is the author of numerous books and articles on philosophical and historical theology and is the founding editor of The Peter Martyr Library Among his writings are Prometheus Rebound the irony of Atheism The Clown and the Crocodile and most recently Understanding the Faith Essays in Philosophical Theology Dr McLelland is a former President of The Canadian Theological Society and Editor in Chief of Studies in Religion Sciences Religieuses theology postmodernism and theology Christology and Science F. LeRon Shults, 2008 The dialogue between theology and science has blossomed in recent decades but particular beliefs about Jesus Christ have not often been brought to the forefront of this interdisciplinary discussion even in explicitly Christian contexts This book breaks new ground by explicitly bringing the specific themes of Christology into dialogue with contemporary science It engages recent developments in late modern philosophy of science in order to articulate the Christian beliefs about Jesus Christ in a way that responds to challenges and opportunities that have arisen in light of various scientific discoveries The main chapters deal with Incarnation Atonement and Parousia After a brief treatment of the history of the shaping of these ideas the author traces developments in some of the sciences that have challenged these formulations evolutionary biology cultural anthropology and physical cosmology Each chapter also summarises some of the popular constructive responses to these developments After clarifying the way in which the Christian understanding of God and of humanity shape the task of reforming Christology each chapter concludes with a programmatic outline of ways in which we might articulate the identity agency and presence of Jesus Christ in dialogue with late modern science and culture Christianity Without Antisemitism Robert Andrew Everett, 1993 This book is an intellectual biography of James William Parkes one of the true pioneers in the field of Jewish Christian relations and the study of antisemitism This ordained Anglican priest made significant and controversial contributions as both historian and theologian carefully documenting how Christianity from its earliest centuries to the present has continuously misunderstood the nature and history of Judaism and Jewish history and to shake off historical and theological misconceptions that have prevented a clear understanding of the Bible and of Christian theological traditions By placing these aspects of Parkes work in context Robert Everett shows that Parkes was not simply a philosemite but rather a Modernist theologian who applied his Modernist theological critique of Christianity to the question of Jewish Christian relations In writing this book Robert Everett researched the life and work of his subject thoroughly and became very well acquainted with him personally Actively involved in discussions between Jews and Christians Everett has written a book that opens a door to the deeper understanding of James Parkes Divergent Traditions, Converging Faiths Joseph Molleur, 2000 Divergent Traditions Converging Faiths explores the relevance and usefulness of a comparative inter religious method for contemporary Christian theology using the work of Ernst Troeltsch as a springboard It also examines pertinent aspects of the work of Schleiermacher Tillich Raimon Panikkar and Francis X Clooney and develops a test case involving a comparison of Hindu and Christian concepts of grace The guiding question is should contemporary Christian theologians take the doctrines of non Christians into account in their constructive doctrinal work and if so how Encyclopaedia of Oriental Philosophy and Religion: Christianity Nagendra Kr Singh, A. P. Mishra, 2007 Ultimate Reality and Meaning, 1996 Toward a Christian Theology of Religious Pluralism Jacques Dupuis, 1997 The results from a lifetime of study reflection and experience in both Europe and Asia is this comprehensive examination of Christian theological understandings of world religions pluralism Beyond Essence Lori Pearson, 2008 Demonstrates the intimate connection between Troeltsch's philosophical writings on the essence of Christianity and his historical investigations of Christianity's past The Encyclopedia of Christianity Erwin Fahlbusch, Jan Milič Lochman, John S. Mbiti, Geoffrey William Bromiley, Jaroslav Pelikan, Lukas Vischer, 1999 The Encyclopedia of Christianity is the first of a five volume English translation of the third revised edition of Evangelisches Kirchenlexikon Its German articles have been tailored to suit an English readership and articles of special interest to English readers have been added The encyclopedia describes Christianity through its 2000 year history within a global context taking into account other religions and philosophies A special feature is the statistical information dispersed throughout the articles on the continents and over 170 countries Social and cultural coverage is given to such issues as racism genocide and armaments while historical content shows the development of biblical and apostolic traditions This comprehensive work while scholarly is intended for a wide audience and will set the standard for reference works on Christianity Outstanding reference sources 2000 American Libraries May 2000 Comp by the Reference Sources Committee RUSA ALA
