Young Adolescents and the Middle Schools They Need Dave F. Brown, 2024-10-25 This textbook offers comprehensive information for middle-level educators on understanding and addressing the unique challenges and opportunities in teaching students in grades 5-9. It illuminates the unique developmental processes of this population: physical, social, emotional, cognitive, and identity searches, and presents strategies for fostering their healthy overall growth. Drawing from neuroscience and psychological research, early chapters provide descriptions of middle schoolers' developmental characteristics, while the remaining chapters delve into instructional, curricular, and assessment processes that match young adolescents' needs. Together, they create an extensive and distinct roadmap for designing effective schools for young adolescents. The personal thoughts of students, including those of the Global Majority, those who are LGBTQIA, and students who are immigrants, are provided with suggestions for how teachers should respond to their experiences and needs. An emphasis on equity and the importance of promoting racial, social, and gender justice in schools is also a focus throughout, as well as the encompassing effect of modern technology and the internet on adolescents' learning and psyches. Ideal for courses in middle-level education and young adolescent development, this book supports preservice teachers to be well-prepared to meet their middle-level students' learning needs, both from a developmental and equitable lens. Inservice teachers working in the middle level will also gain an up-to-date perspective on young adolescent developmental trends and teaching strategies that best support their students.

Integrating Technology in Literacy Instruction Jodi Pilgrim, Sheri Vasinda, Peggy S. Lisenbee, 2025-03-21. In the second edition, this text has been updated to address changing literacies surrounding students and the continued importance of effective communication using technology tools in K-12 classrooms. Technology has the power and potential to transform teaching and learning in classrooms and to promote active learning, interaction, and engagement through readily available tools and applications. While both technologies and research in literacy education rapidly evolve, this book presents lasting frameworks for teachers to effectively evaluate and implement digital tools to enhance classroom literacies and learning. Through the lens of Universal Design for Learning (UDL), this text equips educators to develop inclusive learning environments that support the needs and desires of all literacy learners through the integration of technology and literacy instruction. This text presents a range of current models and frameworks, including SAMR, RAT, PICRAT, T3, TPACK, TIPC, and EMSCI. The new edition of this book has been updated to include Alignment with ISTE standards in each chapter. Updates from the 2024 UDL Guidelines 3.0. Updates from the most recent 2024 National Educational Technology Plan. Updated technology applications, including AI and its impact. Tools for teaching through remote and distance learning. Each chapter includes prompts for reflection and discussion to encourage readers to consider ways literacy and technology can enable teachers to become agents of change. This book will be especially beneficial for pre-service undergraduate and graduate teacher candidates as well as ISTE-certified educators and those seeking certification.
