Higher Ed: Tough Times in a World Divided Phillip L. Beukema, 2025-04-02 It's no secret that the world of higher education in the U.S. is in trouble. It faces image problems, some of the worst financial pressures ever, political turmoil in at least half the states in our country, and much more. Not all these challenges are of academia's own making, but many are. Too many silos, deep roots in tradition, and confused institutional missions all contribute to the state of affairs. Chapter by chapter, the author lays bare what he regards as the most consequential matters confronting our higher education enterprise today. These include everything from enrollment volatility and decline to the impact of a culture war on the DEI movement, dim prospects for improved operational funding, growing partisanship of university trustees and system boards, the impacts of heavy reliance on contingent faculty, increasingly unattractive and non-competitive faculty salaries, and institutional missions that have strayed or enlarged with unintended consequences. As exhausting as this short list is, it covers only part of the territory. Colleges and universities of all stripes are affected, from community and technical colleges to four-year and graduate colleges and universities, both private and public. While there is no silver bullet at the ready, the author outlines a rough blueprint for the kinds of initiatives and strategies needed to tackle the most consequential challenges we face today. For many, a school's survival is truly at stake, but achieving a turnaround is possible only if their leaders have the vision and courage to guide their institutions in the direction of life changing innovation and renewal Scientific American ,1916 The Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record ,1911 InfoWorld ,1986-06-23 InfoWorld is targeted to Senior IT professionals Content is segmented into Channels and Topic Centers InfoWorld also celebrates people companies and projects InfoWorld ,1986-06-16 InfoWorld is targeted to Senior IT professionals Content is segmented into Channels and Topic Centers InfoWorld also celebrates people companies and projects American Lumberman ,1908 Popular Science ,1977-11 Popular Science gives our readers the information and tools to improve their technology and their world The core belief that Popular Science and our readers share The future is going to be better and science and technology are the driving forces that will help make it better The Map Collector ,1977 Engineering News ,1905 Municipal Journal and Public Works ,1922 Public Works ,1922 Yale Alumni Weekly ,1914 New York Times Saturday Review of Books and Art ,1968 Spectator [Philadelphia]. An American Review of Insurance ,1916 Mining Journal, Railway & Commercial Gazette ,1905 Power ,1923 Academy, with which are Incorporated Literature and the English Review ,1893 Catalogue of Title-entries of Books and Other Articles Entered in the Office of the Librarian of Congress, at Washington, Under the Copyright Law ...
