Doing The Media:

Doing Media Research Susanna Hornig Priest, 2010 Comprehensive and comprehensible Doing Media Research is an accessible introduction to both qualitative and quantitative methods in media communication. Written in a straightforward and engaging style, this text takes the student through media research step by step. In order to provide students with a thorough understanding of the purpose and theories behind the various methodological approaches, the text is divided into four distinct sections. Part One lays out the foundations to each approach. Part Two describes the types of research questions and data collection required. Part Three details a range of quantitative approaches, and Part Four examines qualitative methods. Author Susanna Priest concludes with a discussion of special considerations for current media research, including the feminist contribution, international and intercultural perspectives, and new media technology. She also invites the reader to tackle issues such as ethics, objectivity, and the interpretation of data. Useful exercises are provided at the end of each chapter, and there is a glossary which defines key terms and concepts.

Doing Media Research Michael Stevenson, Misha Kavka, 2025-01-08 What is media research and how is it done? You will encounter A Fundamentals section covering eight big topics like what is method, a global perspective reflected in case studies of media research in Asia, Africa, and South America. Practical examples on topics from crafting a thesis statement to conducting an analysis and presenting the outcomes. Integrated discussion of contemporary issues like the ethics of social media research. This essential companion will empower any media student to tackle their research with confidence and skill.

It looks at experimental research methods and engages in media analysis, inviting readers to respond to and shape the materiality of media while carefully considering the implications of living in a technoculture. The author walks readers through the creation of digital objects to think with, where critical design practices serve as tools for exploring social and philosophical issues related to technological being and becoming.
