The Paris Zone James Cannon, 2016-02-24 Since the mid 1970s the colloquial term zone has often been associated with the troubled post war housing estates on the outskirts of large French cities However it once referred to a more circumscribed space the zone non aedificandi non building zone which encircled Paris from the 1840s to the 1940s This unusual territory although marginal in a social and geographical sense came to occupy a central place in Parisian culture Previous studies have focused on its urban and social history or on particular ways in which it was represented during particular periods By bringing together and analysing a wider range of sources from the duration of the zone s existence this study offers a rich and nuanced account of how the area was perceived and used by successive generations of Parisian novelists including Zola and Flaubert poets songwriters artists photographers film makers politicians and town planners More generally it aims to raise awareness of a neglected aspect of Parisian cultural history while pointing to links between current and past perceptions of the city s periphery The President's Report to the Board of Regents for the Academic Year ...
