Domestic Violence Facts And Fallacies:

Domestic Violence Richard L. Davis, 1998-08-20 This is an honest and insightful discussion of domestic violence from the perspective of a police officer who has experienced it in his home and encountered it professionally Davis a sociologist as well uses his dual background to demonstrate that current treatment of domestic violence abuses is ineffective A must read for all police officers criminologists and citizens who care about finding a successful solution to this issue Ann W Burgess Chair of the Panel on Research on Violence Against Women established by the National Research Council in 1995 at the request of congress writes that Since the mid 1970s the body of research on violence against women has grown yet misinformation abounds and we seem little closer to ending violence against women now than 20 years ago This book proposes that continuing to rely on the criminal justice system as the remedy for domestic violence is irresponsible and illogical public policy This nation remains incapable of framing a coherent consistent or understandable criminal justice procedure that has effectively prevented domestic violence Arrest without proper sanctions or proper supervision of abusers and the issuance of civil restraining orders without valid programs in place to assist the victims of abuse are predestined to failure Current policies that provide for reactive intervention in domestic violence incidents must be replaced by policies that address the cause of domestic violence rather than simply treating its symptoms This book explains why the criminal justice system can not prevent domestic violence and what the proper role of the criminal justice system should be To prevent domestic violence we must concentrate on educational programs and policies that provide for alteration of our social and cultural patterns of behavior that foster this form of abuse The formula to prevent or curb the continued escalation of domestic violence is available to women by means of our democratic process Women can challenge the thousands of years of male domination politically economically and socially by taking public office The instrumentality to curb what goes on behind the closed doors of our homes and the mechanism to challenge what goes on behind the closed mahogany doors of Capitol Hill are one and the same The illusory goal of equality of gender equality and sameness are not synonymous should be exchanged for a goal of an equity of conduct and a comportment of behavior that provides for fairness and frankness towards one another and a renewed respect for each other

Policing Domestic Abuse Katy Barrow-Grint, Jacqueline Sebire, Jackie Turton, Ruth Weir, 2022-11-01 This book is dedicated to improving the practice of the policing of domestic abuse Its objective is to help inform those working in policing about the dynamics of how domestic abuse occurs how best to respond to and investigate it and in the longer term how to prevent it Divided into thematic areas the book uses recent research findings to update some of the theoretical analysis and to highlight areas of good practice what works and why An effective investigation and the prosecution of offenders are considered as well as an evaluation of the success of current treatment options Policing domestic abuse can only be dealt with through an effective partnership response The responsibilities of each agency and the statutory processes in place when policy is not adhered to are outlined Core content includes A critique of definitions and

Policing Domestic Violence Lawrence W. Sherman, Janell D. Schmidt, Dennis P. Rogan, 1992 Domestic conflict is the largest single cause of violence in America yet police have traditionally been reluctant to make arrests for such assaults In the past decade however that reluctance has been overcome with a 70% increase in arrests for minor assaults heavily concentrated among low income and minority groups Spearheading this nationwide crackdown are the 15 states and the District of Columbia which have adopted unprecedented statutes mandating arrest in cases of misdemeanor domestic battery In Policing Domestic Violence criminologist Lawrence Sherman confronts the tough questions raised by this controversial approach to a complex social problem How should police respond to the millions of domestic violence cases they confront each year when most prosecutors refuse to pursue them Why does arresting unemployed batterers do more harm than good What approaches should police adopt when arrest has totally opposite effects upon haves and have nots Sherman a leading police researcher is the architect of the 1984 Minneapolis Domestic Violence Experiment the first controlled test of the effects of arrest on repeat crime Here he describes what was learned from a multi year federal research program to repeat the experiment in Milwaukee Miami Colorado Springs Omaha and Charlotte The results are both surprising and provocative In fact arrest deters selectively Sherman found that it effectively inhibits some offenders but incites more violence in others It may also deter batterers for a month or so only to make them more violent later on Under this policy therefore some women exchange short term safety for a longer term increase in danger Sherman also shows that compulsory arrest reduces violence against middle class women at the expense of those often black who are poor Some advocates of the policy have endorsed this moral choice but Sherman argues that domestic violence will continue in spite of and sometimes because of our attempts to stop it Further while it is possible to predict which couples will continue to suffer abusive behavior it has been difficult to find effective ways of preventing chronic violence even when arrests are made Relying on arrest as a fix for domestic abuse only underscores the long neglect of underlying social problems and Sherman calls instead for more flexible policies such as community policing that more adequately reflect the diversity of American society
