The Limits of Performance in the French Romantic Theatre Susan McCready, 2007 This volume analyzes major French plays of the 1830s focusing on their theatricality and on the ways in which they expose the workings of the theater rather than conceal them Through an examination of performance within these plays the study posits that the stage is a privileged site of demonstration a literal proving ground that lends a physical reality to abstract values announced in the text and shared or questioned by the audience Negotiating between the literary study of drama and performance theory this work breaks new ground in nineteenth century theater scholarship while proposing a fresh direction in the study of text and performance The Limits of Performance challenges conventional wisdom offering a novel take on the mal du siècle that thematic hardy perennial of French Romanticism and the nineteenth century in general combined with eminently readable and therefore compelling analysis of plays a thought provoking addition to work in the field Glyn Hambrook Modern and Contemporary France November 2008

Critique of Dialectical Reason: The intelligibility of history (unfinished) Jean-Paul Sartre, 1991 At the height of the Algerian war Jean Paul Sartre embarked on a fundamental reappraisal of his philosophical and political thought The result was the Critique of Dialectical Reason an intellectual masterpiece of the twentieth century now published as a two volume set with a major new introduction by Fredric Jameson In it Sartre set out the basic categories for the renovated theory of history that he believed was necessary for post war Marxism Sartre's formal aim was to establish the dialectical intelligibility of history itself as what he called a totalisation without a totaliser But at the same time his substantive concern was the structure of class struggle and the fate of mass movements of popular revolt from the French Revolution at the end of the eighteenth century to the Russian and

Chinese revolutions in the twentieth their ascent stabilisation petrification and decline in a world still overwhelmingly dominated by scarcity The second volume of Sartre s Critique of Dialectical Reason was drafted in 1958 and published in France in 1985 first appearing in English in 1991 As in Volume One Sartre proceeds by moving from the simple to the complex from individual combat through a perceptive study of boxing to the struggle of subgroups within an organized group form and finally to social struggle with an extended analysis of the Bolshevik Revolution The book concludes with a forceful reaffirmation of dialectical reason of the dialectic as that which is truly irreducible in action
