Domesday Preserved:

Domesday Preserved Helen Forde, Great Britain. Public Record Office, 1986 Digital Preservation for Libraries, Archives, and Museums Edward M. Corrado, Heather Moulaison Sandy, 2014-04-10 Digital Preservation in Libraries Archives and Museums represents a new approach to getting started with digital preservation that of what cultural heritage professionals need to know as they begin their work For administrators and practitioners alike the information in this book is presented readably focusing on management issues and best practices Although this book addresses technology it is not solely focused on technology After all technology changes and digital preservation is aimed for the long term This is not a how to book giving step by step processes for certain materials in a given kind of system Instead it addresses a broad group of resources that could be housed in any number of digital preservation systems Finally this book is about things not technology not how to not theory I wish I knew before I got started Digital preservation is concerned with the life cycle of the digital object in a robust and all inclusive way Many Europeans and some North Americans may refer to digital curation to mean the same thing taking digital preservation to be the very limited steps and processes needed to insure access over the long term The authors take digital preservation in the broadest sense of the term looking at all aspects of curating and preserving digital content for long term access The book is divided into four parts based on the Digital Preservation Triad Situating Digital Preservation Management Aspects Technology Aspects and Content Related Aspects The book includes a foreword by Michael Lesk eminent scholar and forerunner in digital librarianship and preservation The book features an appendix providing additional information and resources for digital preservationists Finally there is a glossary to support a clear understanding of the terms presented in the book Digital Preservation will answer questions that you might not have even known you had leading to more successful digital preservation initiatives Illuminated History Books in the Anglo-Norman World, 1066-1272 Laura Cleaver, 2018-06-06 During the twelfth and thirteenth centuries texts about the recent and more distant past were produced in remarkable numbers in the lands controlled by the kings of England This may be seen in part as a response to changing social and political circumstances in the wake of the Norman conquest of England in 1066 The names of many of the twelfth and thirteenth century historians are well known and they include Orderic Vitalis William of Malmesbury John of Worcester Henry of Huntingdon Gerald of Wales and Matthew Paris Yet the manuscripts in which these works survive are also evidence for the involvement of many other people in the production of history as patrons scribes and artists Illuminated History Books in the Anglo Norman World focuses on history books of the twelfth and thirteenth centuries to examine what they reveal about the creation circulation and reception of history in this period In particular this research concentrates on illuminated manuscripts These volumes represent an additional investment of time labour and resources and combinations of text and imagery shed light on engagements with the past as manuscripts were copied at specific times and places Imagery could be used to reproduce the features of older sources but it was also used to call attention to particular elements of a text and to impose frameworks onto the past As a result Illuminated History Books in the Anglo Norman World has the potential to change the way in which we see the medieval past and its historians

Louise Craven, 2016-02-11 This collection of essays breaks new ground in archival studies in the UK where professional archival texts have traditionally concentrated on the how not the why of archival work Studies of the theoretical role of for example the archive and the text or the archive and political power have meanwhile been undertaken in other academic disciplines where there is an established forum for the discussion of related issues This book invites the archivist to join that arena of debate whilst appealing to all those interested in archives from other disciplines the authors encourage archivists to step away from the practicalities of keeping archives to consider what it is they actually do in the cultural context of the early 21st century The wider context of technological innovation and the internet form the backdrop to this collection The book explores change and continuity in the archival paradigm the textual nature of archives and asks if views of manuscripts and personal papers are changing it looks at specific developments in community archives at concepts of identity and culture in archives and it presents the fruits of innovative studies of users of archives Taken together these essays written by leading experts in the field provide a new understanding of the role of the archive today International Conference on Conservation and Restoration of Archival and Library Materials, Erice, 22nd-29th April 1996 Carlo Federici, Paola Munafò, Daniela Costantini, Biblioteca centrale della Regione siciliana, 1999 The Publications of the Selden Society Selden Society, 1916 Appleton's Annual Cyclopædia and Register of Important Events of the Year ... , 1887
